CONSERVATORS'

DUTY AND POWERS.

BY an Act passed in the thirty-sixth year of his late Majesty, it is enacted, "That for the better preservation of public roads from encroachments and nuisances, and for the more regular and effectual execution of the law, Conservators may be appointed by Grand Juries; and that any sum presented for them, shall not be paid to any such Conservator, until he shall have laid (upon oath) before the Grand Jury, in a book to be kept by him for the purpose, a full and exact account of his proceedings in the execution of his office, stating when and how often he inspected each road within his District—what nuisances, encroachments, or breaches of this Act he observed, what remedies he took to remove or punish for the same—what magistrates he applied to—what warrants he received, and what fines he levied, and whether any and what encroachments and nuisances, and whether any and what ditches, walls, or houses, have been made or built, or pits dug within the time of his appointment, or since last assizes; on any road, or nearer to the centre or sides thereof than this act permits, whether they continue so, and in general a true and perfect state of the roads and bridges, and all other works and matters thereon erected or repaired by presentment;" And it shall be lawful for the Grand Jury to examine every such Conservator upon oath, touching any matter respecting the execution of his office, or the state of the road within his District; and every such Conservator shall have all the power given by law to any Overseer, and shall be deemed the Overseer of all public works within his District; and the several Sub-constables are hereby required to aid and assist him, in the execution of his duty, when required; and he is to report to the Grand Jury any neglect of such assistance in any such sub-constable. And for every Cart load of Dung, Rubbish, or scouring, which have been laid on any public road, or within thirty feet of the centre thereof, contrary to the provisions of this Act, and which shall be drawn away by directions of any such

And the Conservator and Sub-constables within their respective jurisdictions, may seize and kill any cur dog, mastiff, or bull dog, which shall be kept near any public road contrary to the provisions of the said Act, and if any person whatsoever shall be annoyed in passing or repassing any public road, by any cur dog, mastiff, or bull dog, which shall be kept near such road contrary to the provisions of said act, it shall be lawful for any such person to kill such such dog, mastiff, or bull dog, without being sued or prosecuted for the same. And if any person shall scour, deepen, widen, or fill up any ditch or drain on the side of any road, wfthout the consent or directions of the conservator appointed for the Barony; or if any owner or occupier shall omit to scour any ditch or drain leading from any public road, so as to give full liberty for the water to pass away, within ten days after notice shall be given to him or her so to do by such Conservator, or shall permit or suffer the free passage of the water to be obstructed by making, or having any way or passage from any road into the lands adjoining, or to his or her house without sufficient pipe, sewer, or gullet underneath, or shall ride, or drive any horse, beast, or other cattle, willingly, or unnecessarily on any foot path, or shall steep or dry any flax, or burn any bricks or lime, or any weeds or vegetables for ashes, or build any Lime-kiln on his or her land, within one hundred feet of the centre of any public road, or shall cut any turf, or make any turf stack on any public road, within forty feet of the centre thereof, or shall build any wall, or make any ditch, or dig any pit on any public road, within thirty feet of the centre thereof, unless by authority of some Presentment; or shall leave or permit to be left on any road opposite to, or near his or her house or offices, any plough or harrow, cart, car, dray, or other carriage, without the beast or beasts being harnessed thereto, unless such carriage shall have been accidentally broken down there, every person so offending, shall forfeit and pay the fines and penalties as mentioned in the said Act.

82—And be it further enacted, "That all fines and forfeitures inflicted by virtue of this Act, if not immediately paid, shall be levied by distress and sale of the offender's goods, by Warrant under the hand and seal of a Justice of the Peace, together with all expences attending the levying of the same; all such fines, unless otherwise especially directed by this Act, shall when levied and paid, be given, one half to the informer and the other half to the poor of the parish wherein the offence shall have been committed; and that in case any fine be not immediately paid upon conviction, it shall be lawful for the Justice of the Peace before whom such conviction shall have been made, to commit the offender to gaol, there to remain without bail or mainprize, for any time not exceeding two months, or until the fine be paid."
