AMERICAN INQUIRY.

"CALIFORNIAN'S" POSITION

Conflicting Evidence.

The Senatorial Committee of inquiry into the itanie disaster prepared yesterday its report on the individual examination of sailors and stewards only, few of whom shed any new light on the affair. It is understood that members of the prew who will not be examined in open se will be permitted to return home immediately. The remainder of those subpensed will be examined as rapidly as possible. It is expected Mr. Ismay will give evidence after the crew.

Mr. Ismay will give evidence after the crew.

Referring to the criticiann in Great Britain of the conduct of the Senate Committee's inquiry. Senator Smith and that he had the personal assurance of most of the Titanic's officers that they had no complain to make, nor had any been addressed by them to the British hambasy. On the contrary, the British people wanted the truth. The Committee was trying to get it, and would rot be indusneed by anybody.

When the Committee met yesterday morning, Mr. Franklin, White Stac'representative in New York, was recalled. He was closely questioned regarding the messages received and sent out by the White Stac Company during the days of the disaster, defore the fact that the Titanic had sunk became known, and he denied that there had been undue delay in communicating the public.

Ernest Gill, donkey engineering the late of the

had been under delay in communicating the information at the company's disposal to the public.

Ernest Gill, donkey engineman on the liner Californian, then entered the witness stand. The Chairman-sead a sworn sistement made by the witness, in which he alleged that the aptain of the Californian relused to go the assistance of the Titanie, although she was only a few miles away, and that the distress rockets were miles away, and that the distress rockets were miles away, and that the distress rockets were a stand of the theorem of the californian and must have been virible both on the bridge the treed to organise a departation of the crew to go to the two captain to protest against his course of action, but the men were afraid of fasing their jobs. Witness declared that he saw the Titanie and low what he had seen, because that was not his work. Witness declared that he saw the Titanie and what he had seen, because that was not his work when the had seen, because that was not his work in the was prepared to rebut the last witness's statements gave evidence. He californian, who said he was prepared to rebut the last witness's statements, gave evidence, the only communication he had with the Titanie was about 10.15 on the night of Sanday, April 14th, when he told her he was surrounded by ice and had stopped. The reply was a message telling us to "abut up and keep out." He heard nothing more until six the following morning, when he got the "C.Q.D." message through the Virginian. He saw no rocket signals. If he had received the "C.Q.D." signal on Sunday evening he could have reashed the Titanie in two hours.

Among the bodies picked up by the Mackay Bensett are those of Colonel Astor, Mr. C. M. Hays, and Mr. Strans.
