F IN THE CITY

urred in Limerick on a clothes policeman ar was being taken to the away at the corner of an called upon him to e fugitive, it is stated, into Sarsfield street, ng caused great alarm with assaulted him without any cause. He was badly beaten about the head, and almost rendered unconscious. In the attack Mr Collier, who is a quiet and inoffensive citizen, was deprived of his keys. When taken into his home the injured man was found to be dazed and suffering from loss of blood. Surgical aid was procured, and on Sunday and yesterday the patient had lapses of unconsciousness. At the place where Mr Collier was attacked there is no public lamp, and the scandal of allowing the place to remain in darkness for more than twelve months has been over and over again commented upon. Opposite St Joseph's Church the electric light standard, which was accidentally knocked down last July twelve months, has been replaced, but the lamp has not been affixed to it, with the result that the place is constantly in utter darkness at night.
