Letters from Constantinople, of the nounce an extraordinary sensation in the diplomatic circles of that City. M. Avedick informed the Divan and the Ambassadors that the Captain Pacha, in betraying the Turkish fleet to Mehemet Ali, acted by the advice and with the concurrence of the French Admiral Lalande ; and that it was the French Admiral who first suggested the measure, and who had actually planned it with the Rear-Admiral Osman Pacha, before communicating with the Captain Pacha.

Mr. Paget, son of Sir Charles Paget, is to be married to a beautiful young Irish lady of the name of M'Clintock.

Monday evening last, a band of armed men assailed the habitation of a respectable farmer named Williamson, at Bettyville, in this county, and inflicted on him very severe bodily punishment, with fracture of the skull.
They also went to another house in that vicinity, and fired in through the door at a man named Hannan ; the shot entered his eye, and he fell dead on the spot.
The Police patrol the district constantly, but are unequal to the duty, without military aid. This is the fourth outrage upon life and property by armed gangs in different parts of this county since Christmas.
