Nearly One Thousand Hands Thrown Out.

Between 600 and 700 hands have been thrown idle as a result of the closing of the flax mills of the Cork Spinning and Weaving Company, Blackpool, Cork. This action has been rendered necessary by the fact that spinners have sold very little of their stocks within the past few months, and indeed the whole trade is practically at a standstill. No prospect of an early resumption of work is apparent.

DEATH OF MR W. COLLIER.

We regret to state that Mr William Collier, who, as already reported, was attacked on Saturday night by three men near his house at Crescent Avenue, and violently assaulted, succumbed to his injuries yesterday. Mr Collier had been returning home from business when the attack was made on him, and he was deprived of his keys and rendered practically unconscious. His very sad and tragic end is deeply regretted by friends in city and country, where he was widely known in connection with the butter trade. He came from Manchester 35 years ago, and for a lengthened period was local manager for Messrs. Joseph Stock and Son, of that city. For some years past he carried on a provision business in Broad-street. Mr Collier was a very quiet and inoffensive citizen, and held in high regard and esteem. He was an old member of the congregation of the Methodist Church.
 There is general sympathy with his family in their bereavement. The remains will be removed from his residence to the Methodist Church at 7 o'clock this evening. There will be a service in the church at 9.30 to-morrow morning, and the funeral leaves at 10 o'clock for St. Munchin's.

A Military Inquiry will be held at 10.30 to-morrow into the cause of death.

DEATH OF SERGEANT CORRY.

The death took place this morning, in the Military Hospital, New Barracks, Limerick, of Sergeant M. Corry, a member of the city police force. The deceased contracted a cold last week, and his condition becoming worse, he was removed to hospital. Pneumonia supervened, and Sergeant Corry passed away this morning. The deceased was about fifty years of age, and had considerable service in the constabulary, sixteen years of which he spent in John-street police station. He was a zealous and efficient officer, and discharged his duties with tact and courtesy while in the city.
 Sincere sympathy will be extended to his widow and family in their bereavement.
