Six and thirty Roman Catholics voted against Vigors, the late Repeal member, in the town of Carlow. Their influence gave the election to Mr. Francis Bruen, a Conservative.

The County Waterford has lost two Repealers by the return of Mr. Power, and Sir R. Masgrave. The Ex-Members, Keane and Galwey, voted for that measure last session.

Mr. O'Connell has declared the Dublin election cost him only £100, while his opponents lost £15,000 in the contest.

The Limerick Political Union has passed a vote of thanks to Dr. MacHale of Tuam.

John D. Norton, Esq., Barrister, and Secretary to the True Irish Association, has addressed a circular to all the Governors of prisons in Ireland, requiring a return of any person or persons in custody under a process from the Court of Chancery or Exchequer. Mr. Woodburn, Governor of our County Gaol, has returned Owen Hynes, as the only person in his custody, under an attachment from the Court of Exchequer last June.

One hundred and thirty-eight debtors were committed to the County Gaol last year, of which number two died in custody, and nine remain in prison. The remainder were liberated.

Patrick Keane, a poor little sweep, about nine years of age, died of pure exhaustion, fatigue, and inclemency of the weather, at Five Alley-lane, in this City, last Tuesday evening. He was apprenticed to Michael Fallon, a master-sweep, and had returned from crook that day. The littleurchin was so worn out on the road home, that his master raised him on his back, and fell several times with his overcoat by liquor. The Mayor held an inquest on the body next day, at the Exchange, and the Jury returned a verdict according to the above circumstances.

The Lord Lieutenant has offered £50 reward for the party of men who recently attacked the house of William Croucher, parish of Doone, in this County, and fired shots into it—also, £100 reward for Andrew Fleming, who murdered his brother near Newtownbutler, by shooting him.

The old house of Ballymacapricor, on the bank of the river Lune, near Killorglin, Kerry, which, with the farm of which it was, has, for some time past, been in the tenancy of Connolly O'Neill, Esq. was Tuesday night, burned to the ground, supposing maliciously.

On Thursday last a fine boy, only son of Thomas King- mill, Esq. of Templemore, unfortunately lost his life under the following melancholy circumstances:—The family had been sitting in the parlor, when a young lady took an old gun through play, not knowing if it to be loaded, and presented it at the boy; it missed fire several times, till it at length exploded and the contents lodged in the child's head—he died instantly.

On Saturday last John Gillespie, a collector of toll at the bridge of Londonderry, fell down in the toll-house, and instantly expired.

Peggy Hanahan, aged 60, living in Garryowen, while sitting by a fire on Tuesday evening last, became suddenly weak and having fallen into the fire was so dreadfully burned that she died in twenty-four hours after the accident in hospital.