

G.
an. 26, 1835.

that in
od commencing
ed officers, and
and, who, under
entitled to trien-
1st June, 1829,
asation in money
l. per month for
or aud acting
month for each
compensation is
, and charged in
will include in
to the 30th June ;
the respective

C. HERRIES.

, instead of one
On Friday, in
of the 9th Lancers
captain Williams,
iment.

mmission in the

ey on Thursday
ivate in the 51st
ment have been
. The deceased
his firelock, one
lacing the muzzle
tents through his
forated the ceiling
mitted the fatal act.
y insanity."

of a private in the
nd drowned in a
ident or violence,

th Regiment, has

nt, is sentenced by
ransportation, for

Officer at Cove, is
s reward for his
the Morning Star.

BARBAROUS OUTRAGE—Saturday night last, or rather early on Sunday morning, a stable and part of the dwelling-house of Daniel Fitzgerald, farmer, at Laffane, near Askeaton, was destroyed by fire, when four horses and four cows perished in the conflagration, which consumed beside a quantity of property, including plough, harness, rack and manger, fattening stall, and various other useful articles. The footsteps of a single incendiary, evidently retreating from the burning premises, were discerned next morning, and a lighted sod of turf found in a wall adjoining. The damage incurred by this malicious arson amounts to upwards of £100. Fitzgerald was but recently a tenant on the above farm, and the name of the former tenant is Michael Foley, who gave occasional annoyance to his successor, when proceeding to till the ground.

Sunday last the Mayor held an inquest, at the County Infirmary, on view of the body of Timothy Hourigan, of Turagh. The principal witness was his wife, who deposed that her husband had left home in the morning, for Abington, to attend a summons from the Commissioners of Ecclesiastical Inquiry, and that she discovered him on the road in the evening, in a senseless state, after a severe beating. He was removed to hospital, and died there of fracture on the head. Verdict—wilful murder against person or persons unknown.

Yesterday the Mayor held an inquest at same place on the body of Michael Dooly, a grown youth, who was killed at a smith's forge in Kiltely, by the blow of a hammer, which one Patrick Shinnors inflicted under great excitement.—Verdict accordingly.

Sunday night last, Daniel Ryan was apprehended near Oulagh, in this County, by Sub-Constable Thompson, for arson, at Keelogue, and Thomas Connors, of the Castle-Lloyd Police station, has taken up in Tipperary a man named Stack, for the robbery of Edward Kean, a butcher, in Listowel. By the activity of same Connors, Thomas Burke, John Enright, and Denis Connors, were arrested for the murder of Thomas Conway, a process-server, in Kerry, several years ago.

In the violent hail-storm of Sunday last, a house at Kilpeacon, belonging to Connor Ryan, was struck by the electric fluid and prostrated. In the adjoining farm-house, several of the family were collected round the fire when a flash of lightning darted down the chimney and killed a dog upon the hearth-stone, but all the rest providentially indeed escaped.

The Lord Lieutenant has offered £100 reward for the murderers of a female on the Moylough road, Dunmore county Galway. The atrocious miscreants severed her head

SIR D.
We ac
on oath
upon the
son. S
has been
find Mr.
Tralee),
they we
that Joh
Directo
sceeded
a partn
ward as
All the
of the I

CO

Edw
The pla
sion of
County
siderab
new le
renewa
pleased
that an
lands b
might
when
as to t
mansio
and cu
and t
ship w
issue

Beo
Lord
by pla
as we
the co
asize
motio
termi
subsis