

acquainted with an Irish knew Limerick better than the er, a native of that city), but able the residents were to raise and moreover, that they did raise a month or two before, in relief of their poorer fellow-citizens. t would be opening a door to other places; but if the sale of o such result would again take e, this happy prospect would be Limerick, and therefore entitled sympathy. It might further be nsure? But besides that this unforeseen a cause, the very he excessive duty upon it, was a people, and moreover it is even companies would be liable from e could not sit down without beneficence manifested on the entlemen in Limerick, by the Mayor of that city, and indeed by y, and also the great and the ced from the City Hospital, built family of Mr. Barrington, with viable qualities almost all were se in the hands of a considerate re and government, and trusted appeal, and anxiety, would be gs and results.

seconded the motion.

the EXCHEQUER had no of the memorial, but, although e sufferers, could not hold out any hem. It would be a dangerous ersons suffering loss from accident compensation.

the Right Hon. Gentleman was y grant to the sufferers, it would he) to persevere in his motion ; ew.

N MARCH 4,

re the House of Commons last e measure for the abolition of e repairs of the fabric of the r the celebration of its services, ut of the property of the Church, applied in aid of the Church-ortion of the pews; the other ases, one-third in others, and assigned as free sittings for the are exempted from serving the ich officer is to be elected in o instead of the vestries, will on, beadle, and other persons s of the Church. The care of parochial churches and chapels cal Commissioners, who will dioceses the sum which will be n from the managers of the Exchequer intends reducing or e insurances. In France and uty on Marine policies.

terday commenced discounting cent.

hagena, has been thrown into s, and the British fleet on that the Asizes, who are indebted to this establishment, to discharge their Accounts while in town, to prevent disagreeable and expensive law proceedings, otherwise inevitable.

APPALLING MURDER OF A WIDOW LADY.

We have been witnesses to a spectacle of blood and horror. Tremulous and shuddering we record the savage, sanguinary and shocking murder, which has been committed in our City, and of which an aged widow lady is the unhappy victim. Indeed we should not have believed that so brutal and bloody a deed could have been perpetrated within the precincts of this city, if we had not visited the theatre of the harrowing tragedy, which took place at a private house in Harstonge-street, on Monday evening, at an early hour. Between 7 and 8 o'clock, some diabolical miscreant contrived to gain admission to the house of Mrs. Anne Anderson, and after having cut her throat and robbed her of a portion of the property she possessed—yes, at about 7 o'clock on Monday evening, while this aged widow of the late Captain John Anderson, 4th Garrison Battalion, and mother of Lieut. Anderson, of the Rifles, was alone in her house in Harts-tonge-street, a respectable and fashionable neighbourhood, she was brutally murdered and basely robbed! She was an aged and lone lady, and though in affluent circumstances, kept but one servant, who was a female. This girl was sent out by her mistress for some cakes about 6 o'clock, and returned, as she states, at half-past six, leaving with her ill-fated mistress the cakes, together with 4s. 10d. change, being the balance of a crown which she got from Mrs. Anderson, after having paid for the confectionary. Her mistress then gave her permission to go to the Chapel; and having remained away for about an hour, she returned and rapped at the hall-door, where she remained for some time without an answer, and not getting admittance she became alarmed, which induced her to go Mr. Wm. Taverner, who is a relative of her mistress, and that young Gentleman at once accompanied her to Mrs. Anderson's house. An entrance having been forced through the front parlour window, the upper part of the house was searched for the unfortunate lady, but she was not found. Having come down stairs, search was made in a small pantry back of the parlour in the hall, and there was discovered the body of Mrs. Anderson with her feet towards the door, her throat cut from ear to ear, the fingers of her right hand deeply cut, and some black hair firmly grasped in her left hand, indicating a fierce and desperate struggle with her merciless assailants—she was extended on her back—the spectacle was appalling—weltering in blood. On one of the shelves was found a large case-knife, with which no doubt the homicide was effected, and from which sanguinary instrument the blood had been wiped off. Near the knife on the same shelf was the impression of something similar to three fingers and a thumb—appearing as if the person who had used the knife had put the bloody hand upon the spot after having laid by the weapon. Drawers had been subsequently rifled, and some money abstracted from the premises. All the money had not, however, been removed, for a large quantity of silver coin was left behind, with some plate—the robbers and murderers, not knowing where to find it, or perhaps alarmed at some noise in the street, had made a premature retreat. An inquest was held yesterday by the Mayor, and adjourned until this day; but in this stage of the awful transaction, it would not be proper to say more than that a female servant who lately lived with the unfortunate lady, and was discharged with disgrace, is in custody, and against whom strong circumstances have been already adduced to fix upon her the guilt of compound murder and robbery.

At nine o'clock on Monday night the dwelling-house, furniture and clothes, &c. together with a quantity of oats and potatoes, the property of John Foley, of Croom, is watchman still dr

and said he would Scullys came ins
to knock his bra
were allowed to w
house, and wites
an odd thing tha Mr. Leake came i
out through his cl vulsions soon afte
attacked with con

Cross-examine this transaction i
until I murder
Roger Scully said
of Croom, uncle brother would bri
liberty he had tak were amusing the over a table and l Leake is not the s
a stronger man (C peaceable man; w
Mr. Scully had no not swear that he he is told: is in t he rides pays half rode unfairly; on unfairly' in his life watch-house, or with breaking his habit of abusing often buys horses
a good price; ofte

To Mr. Freeman
more's family, and
with the most influ

To a Juror—Th
he struck him.

George Dalton
Freeman—Recolle
was in company w
hotel, supped wit
that night in his c
go there by Mr. F
see the pretty wid
with Mr. Jervis, Casey; saw two
"how are you Rod
Mr. Fitzgerald said
effect, and Rody S fian, brother to her trinkets." On
Mr. Fitzgerald ent Fitzgerald, but he brother Freemason Scully struck with him with his left h
got up and wite
knocked him dow Fitzgerald, on tur Scully; saw Mr. L
knocked him down Dick, you have l
by the Watchman,
witness was attack
kicked in several going near the wat
a stone, and dro