On Saturday, at Ballintober, in this County, Theodocia, wife of Edward Sheehy, Esq. and sister of Major General H. S. Keating, C.B. as a fond wife and affectionate mother, the early and unforeseen demise of this respected Lady has been the cause of deep affliction to her sorrowing family and numerous circle of relatives and friends—while by the poor of the surrounding districts, to whom her unostentous charities have justly endeared her, her loss will be long felt. Her remains were interred yesterday in the family vault at Moneygag.

Friday night, at his residence Glenwilliam, near Ballingarry, to the inexpressible grief of a fond family and the deep regret of a highly respectable circle of relatives and friends, George Massy, Esq. one of the oldest Magistrates of this County, and on every occasion when its peace and tranquillity were menaced by rustical insurrection, or midnight outrage, one of the most tender and generous Gentlemen who held the local Commission. In social life he was ever a sincere and generous friend, while in the more tender and endearing enjoyments of the domestic establishment Mr. Massy invariably proved himself an exemplary husband, and a most affectionate parent. His tenancy are deprived of a kind and worthy landlord, while the industrious countryman has lost in him a sure protector. Next to William T. Monsell, of Tervoe, Esq. Mr. Massy was the Senior Magistrate of this County.

Friday, in Westland-Roan, after a short illness borne with the resignation and fortitude of a Christian, Anne, the beloved wife of George Bowerman, Esq. The only consolation to her sorrowing relatives is, that she fell asleep rejoicing in the full assurance of an eternal resurrection through the merits of Christ her Saviour.

At Moymord, county Clare, Mat. Stapcoole, Esq.

At Trelane, Mary, relict of the late Thomas Chute, Esq.

At Ballinaught, Cork, Jane, relict of the late Abraham Haynes, Esq.

Emma, wife of Mr. Samuel Gamble, jun. of High-street, Dublin
At Cork Hill-Lodge, the residence of his son the Rev. A. H. Irvine, at a very advanced age, Gerard Irvine, Esq. late of Rockfield, and one of the Grand Jury of the county Dublin.

At the Royal Hospital, Dublin, in the sixth year of her age, Georgiana, daughter of lieutenant-general Sir Hussey Vivian, Bart.

In Augier-street, Mr. Thomas Jones, formerly of the Bank of Sir Robert Shaw and Co. and latterly of Lutonde and Co.'s Bank.

At Sydney Avenue, Blackrock, E. Warren Lewis, Esq. Barrister-at-Law.

At Grattan's-hill, Cork, Mrs. Judith Berrell.

At New Ross, of apoplexy, Mrs. Stuart Smith, relict of the late Lieutenant Colonel Nicholas Matthew Smith, of the Hon. India Company's Service.

At Castlecomer, Charlotte, wife of Captain Henry Hartford.

At the Nuns' Island, Galway, Mrs. Mitchell, relict of the late Walter Mitchell, Esq.

At the house of Lord Arden, in St. James's-place, the Hon. Caroline Frances Lady Heathcote, the wife of Sir William Heathcote, Bart. of Hilsme Park.

At the Lodge, South Lambeth, in his 79th year, Major-General Thomas Hardwicke, of the Hon. East India Company's Service.

In England, Hester, widow of the late Hugh McClelland, Esq. (brother of the deceased Baron McClelland.)

At Hampstead, Arabella, daughter of Mellor Hetherington, Esq.
At Ashdown House, Sussex, at an advanced age, the Hon. Mrs. Fuller, only daughter of the Right Hon. George Augustus Eliott Lord Heathcote, and sister of the late Lord and mother of Sir Tristram Fuller Eliott Drake, Bart. This Lady was equally descended from Sir Francis Drake, the first circumnavigator.

At Frankfort-sur-Maine, in his 82d year, Stephen, second son of the late Captain Cumberland, of the Hon. East India Service.