Miscellaneous FeaturesCloonkeen National School

Clounkeen National School	-- Inhabitants
Cloonkeen	-- J. O'D.

This school is situated at the middle of the west boundary of the td. of Cloonkeen Barrington, and to the south of the road leading through same. It was established in 1824, partly by the Kildare Place Society, and partly by Sir Joseph Barrington, at the expense of about £400.

The Male School, which is a few perches E. from the Female School, has 115 boys on the roll, and about 60 per day on an average. The Master is paid £10 per annum from the Board of Education, besides 1s. to 2s. per quarter from the better-off sort of scholars. The Female School has about 70 girls, the Mistress being paid £6 from the Board of Education.

Barrington's Bridge

-- Inhabitants

This bridge is situated on the middle of the boundary of the td. of Cloonkeen Barrington. It spans the River Mulkeir, and is on the road from Limerick to Cappamore.

This bridge, which is of metal, was built in 1818 by Sir J. Barrington, Bart., at the expense of £1,500, including £500 from the Government, and it is from this that it got the name of Barrington's Bridge. Sir J. Barrington also established a village in the same place and in the same year. It has about 20 houses, and includes the above-mentioned National School, a police barracks, and 2 public houses.

Cloonkeen Mill

-- Inhabitants

9

This mill is situated near the centre of the west boundary of the td. of Cloonkeen Barrington, and about 8 chains to the South of the bridge, on the banks of the River Mulkeir.

It was built in 1820 by Sir J. Barrington, Bart. at the expense of about £900. It is four stories high, and is used as a corn mill.

Cloonkeen Church

-- Inhabitants

10

This church is situated in the north part of Cloonkeen Glebe, at the N.E. point of the td. of Cloonkeen Barrington. It is a ruin.

The ruin of this church, which is said to have been an abbey, is 100 feet long and 24 feet broad, with the walls and gables about 12 feet and 20 feet respectively, and overgrown with ivy. Its door on the west end is 3 feet wide and 6 feet high, built of cut stone. Its windows are very narrow. There is a graveyard attached to it, about 2 chains square; it is enclosed by a stone wall, and interiorly interspersed with a few palm trees.

Slieve Mohera River

-- Inhabitants

11

Sliabh Mothara, the Moher Mountain.

Mothar = the ruin of a fort. In Munster, it often designated the ruin of any building.

Slievemohera

-- J. O'D.

This is evidently the name of a mountain, but we have many instances of rivers being called after mountains and minor features. J. O'Donovan.
