In Kilkenny, Mary, youngest daughter of the late Rev. John Butler, of Killkenny Glebe, county Clare,—a Lady very sincerely regretted for her many amiable qualities.

In Harcourt street, Dublin, after a painful and protracted illness, John Barclay Scribner, Esq., many years Father of the Irish Bar. At Kilmacthomas, in her 54th year, and of a long and painful illness, which she bore with Christian resignation, Catherine, wife of Robert Berry, and relict of the late Lieut. Richard Croker, 5th Regt. At the seat of her uncle, John Colpoys, Esq., Ballygowan, county Down, on the 24th ult. Miss Kitty Joyce Abbott, third daughter of Alderman Abbott, of Dublin.

At his residence, in Great Charles-street, Dublin, William Belbin, Esq., E.C. At his residence, Primrose-hill, of a few days' illness, Elizabeth, wife of George Ewing, Esq., barrister-at-law. In Grattan-street, Cork, Mrs. Eliza Keays, relict of the late Mr. James Keays.

Margaret, wife of Mr. John Fitzsimons, of Queen-street, Waterford. At New Ross, Thomas Carr, Esq. At Booterstown-Avenue, Doctor William Field. In Enniskillen, Mrs. Macpherson, wife of Lieutenant Macpherson, formerly of the 78th Regiment. At Grange, near Waterford, the residence of her son, Thomas McVeigh, Esq., Mrs. Jane McVeigh, aged 66 years. At Galway, at the advanced age of 90 years, Miss Judith Skerritt. At Costello Bay, county Galway, of malignant fever, caught in the performance of his very arduous duties, the Rev. Mr. Deane, of Margaret, wife of James Taylor, Esq., of Stranorlar, Donegal.

At New York, Miss Anne Frizell. In Anne-street, Mr. Robert McCutchan.

In Stamford, aged 53, Mrs. Bunyon, a descendant of the Author of Pilgrim's Progress. Frances Alicia, youngest daughter of Joseph Fox, of Doolistown, Esq. At Brighten, Lady Cornwall, relict of the late and mother of the present Sir George Cornwall, in her 83rd year.

At the Spa, near Gloucester, aged 86, Major George Ball, of the 3rd division of the Royal Marines, and Brother to Alex. Ball, late Governor of Malta. Maria Louisa, youngest daughter of Lieutenant George White, C.B. At Cheltenham, aged 73, Lady George Cleave, relict of the late Sir Rupert George, Bart. In Liverpool, William, youngest son of the late Rev. John Sherrard, President of the Presbytery of Tullibody, county Down.

At Edinburgh, Sergeant Bishop, formerly of the 71st Light Infantry, who interred his remains with military honours. At Berlin, the Hon. Sevilla Howard, wife of Henry F. Howard, of Corby Castle, Esq., daughter of Lord Erskine. At St. Petersburg, in his 17th year, Prince George Lieven, third son of Prince and Princess Lieven, who died in England, and was baptised in the late Majesty George IV., who stood sponsor at his baptism.

In the Hague, Lieut.-General A. D. Trip, of the Netherlands Army.