DEATHS.

At Cheltenham, on the 11th inst., after a few hours illness, Anna, the beloved wife of the Rev. Richard Dickson, Rector of Kilkeedy—This sudden and unexpected stroke has plunged a numerous circle of friends and relatives into the deepest affliction—and to those bereaved mourners from whom a truly affectionate wife and most tender mother is thus untimely torn, the dispensation is better indeed. Their only consolation under their heavy loss is that she for whom they weep was enabled, amid the severe bodily sufferings of her brief illness, to fix her thoughts and affections where pain shall cease and where all tears shall be wiped away.
