

ed,
GREGOR,
ATION, &c.
LIN.
 April 25.
 S. ex Limerick
 TY'S BEST
 west Shapes,
 er qualities,
 well supplied
CLOTHS,
 -street, with
 next month.
 ick-street,
 1835.
WICKE.
 Visitation at e.
 0th inst. and
 from London,
 nt.
 d at the New
 ls, President,
 of the 7th
 d-quarters at
 arrison tattoo
 ctive barracks.
 continues at
 s, have landed
 of the East
 rne, deceased,

EXECUTION OF THREE MEN.

Outrages of a felonious character having occurred in the eastern parts of this county since Spring assizes, probably influenced Government in dispatching a special order from the Castle of Dublin, which was received by the High Sheriff on Thursday, directing that the three men under sentence of death for the capital assault on Thadeus R. Ryan, Esq. should be executed at Ulla, in this County, and not at the gaol, as mentioned in the original rule of Court.— In conformity with this new order, intended no doubt for the best purposes, to operate as an awful example on the minds of the peasantry in the centre of a populous district, on the borders of the counties Limerick and Tipperary, and distant 15 miles from this City, a squadron of the 7th Dragoon Guards, comprising Captain Bolton's and Thewle's troops, left this garrison for Tipperary yesterday morning, and this morning at six o'clock, Thomas P. Vokes, Esq. Chief Magistrate of Police, with two companies of the 18th Regt. under Major Doran, and one of the 36th, under Capt. Trolloppe, proceeded from the Gaol for the scene of execution, escorting the following victims to the offended laws of their country:—Mathew Molony, aged 34, Daniel Molony, aged 22, and Jeremiah O'Donnell, aged 22 years. They were placed in inside jaunting-cars, and attended by three Roman C. Clergymen to administer spiritual consolation. The first culprit has a wife and two young children. Their appearance and demeanour outside the prison were indicative of resignation and humility; and when the imposing cavalcade moved on for its fatal destination, their minds were evidently absorbed in prayer, regardless of exterior objects. The cross of Ulla is considered a great thoroughfare, and the procession was met there this day by the squadron of Dragoons from Tipperary, and a company of the 18th regiment from the same town. As they travelled through the country the eyes of the countrypeople at either side of the road, were directed with a curious and painful interest to the imposing spectacle, and crowds attended to view the execution from a respectful distance. The whole military cortege, which formed at the place of execution, comprised two troops of Cavalry, and four companies of Infantry. The bodies of the culprits are to be given to their relatives and friends.

The Lord Lieutenant has offered £100 reward for the murderers of Mr. William Carter, near Mountrath.

Murtough Kenny, a labouring man at the steam-boat quay, fell dead suddenly on Thursday by a mortal stroke from the iron handle of a windlass, by which he was

Wedne
 meetings
 benevole
 the speci
 Esq. to Orphans
 in this C
 County
 to provi
 that asy
 be supp
 upon v
 religious Sheriff
 City, co
 Thomas
 Massy,
 address
 the in
 unanim
 Treasur
 the Cha Sheriff
 lection

THE
 on our
 for sin
 more
 said th
 out wit
 Shaks
 Father
 impuls
 all the grand
 and eff
 lovelin
 have d
 of the witness
 gifted
 by a c
 in Lin
 merits
 secure
 gent, t
 2500