from Lough Gur ; Nasturtium sylvestre from Bilboa ; Hypopitys Monotropa, from Curraghchase, &c. At the next meeting, Dr. G. J. Fogerty gave a lecture on "Bromide Printing," followed by practical demonstrations in a set of prints made from the same negatives on various sorts of papers, which were developed and finished during the evening. For the 26th February, Miss Knowles, Ballymena, contributed a paper on "The Kitchen Middens of Co. Clare," which was read by Dr. G. Fogerty. The paper described the work done amongst the sand-hills of County Clare, by a party comprising members of the Field Clubs of Belfast and Limerick, investigating conjointly in the neighbourhood of Fanore, Lahinch, and Fisherstreet. Mr. Neale exhibited examples of insects, entering at length into the life history of some as types. Mr. Scott read a paper on the great Clare find of gold ornaments which was made at Ballycar, about the year 1854. The net weight of the find has been estimated at over one thousand ounces, by far the larger part of which found its way to the melting pot. The prize lantern slides for the year, lent by the editor of The Amateur Photographer, were exhibited on the 9th of April, and were much admired.

The Ninth Annual Meeting of the Club was held on the 7th of January, 1902. The Annual Report was read and adopted, and officers were elected for the coming year. It was decided that in future the Annual Meeting be held in October, at the opening of the Winter Session.

The Annual Report was as follows :—

ANNUAL REPORT.

"Your Committee have to report a steady diminution in the Club Membership—this stood at 244, in October, 1899 ; the following year, with an increased subscription, it fell to 152, and this October our members are reduced to 127.

"Our income from all sources amounted to £39 8s. 9d., and our expenditure was £45 1s. 6d., showing a deficit of £5 12s. 9d., this is largely owing to the increased cost in the production of our Journal, and it is becoming a serious question as to what course we should take in the future.

"The CLUB JOURNAL was published in July, and is, in every respect, a great improvement on previous numbers, both as regards size and matter, and has been very favourably reviewed.

“ During the Winter Session 1900 and 1901, the following meetings have taken place :

“ October 18—Negatives and Prints ; lent by A. P.

“ December 4—‘ An Antiquarian Tour among the Hebrides,’ Mrs. Shackleton.

“ December 11—Natural History and Archæological Exhibits.

“ December 18—‘ A Botanical Ramble in the English Lake District,’ Miss Bennis.

“ December 28—‘ Hand Camera Work.’

“ January 8th—Eighth Annual Meeting.

“ January 22nd—‘ Some Limerick Wild Flowers,’ Mr. R. Lloyd Praeger, B.E., B.A.

“ February 5th—A Practical Demonstration on Bromide Printing, Mr. G. J. Fogerty.

“ February 26th—Natural History and Archæological Exhibits.

“ March 19th—‘ Early Irish Christian Architecture,’ Mr. P. J. Lynch.

“ April 9th—Prize Lantern Slides ; lent by A. P.

“ Thus ending a most successful winter programme.

“ Our evenings for Short Papers and discussion have proved themselves to be most instructive, and of great assistance in bringing forward our younger members.

“ The attendance at all the meetings was fairly good, and in some instances perhaps greater than our room could accommodate with comfort

“ Our summer excursions were to the following places :—

“ April 26th—Ennis and Clare Abbeys ; a very beautiful day ; attendance 16.

“ May 23rd—Cratloe Wood and Bunratty Castle ; a fine day ; attendance 15.

“ July 11th—Holy Cross Abbey ; fine in the morning, showery evening ; attendance 7.

“ July 25th—Adare ; very fine ; attendance 16.

“ Excursions to Bilboa River and Glin were arranged, but did not come off, owing to inclement weather. The Irish Field Club Union conference was held in Dublin from June 18th to 22nd, several of our members being present. Your Committee desire to draw your attention to the very small attendance at our summer excursions. The various sections of the Club have been doing good work during the year.

“The Botanical classes following each of the summer excursions were well attended throughout the season, and several plants have been added to the Club Herbarium.

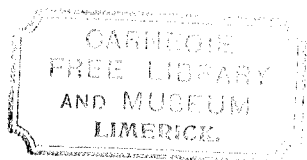

“Entomology is well to the front this year, and some good finds have been made in the Co. Clare.

“Photography showed up well at our last annual meeting, an enlarging lantern having been provided for the use of our members.

“Archæology, as seen in our Journal, is not behind the other sections.

“Your Club has sustained a serious loss this year, owing to the departure from amongst us of our valued Secretary, Mr. F. Neale.”
