Inquest Told Of Danger Of O'Dwyer Bridge

RETURNING a verdict of accidental death at an inquest in Limerick yesterday into the death of 26-year-old Tapo Gylden, a member of the crew of the s.s. Aristo, who was killed on Saturday night when the motor-cycle he was riding was dragged by the ship's propellers, Dr. J. O'Malley, the coroner, said he would add a strong recommendation that a steel electric light standard be removed at this spot, and that the cumber of the road be improved. It was stated that another fatal accident to a bridge some years ago. The Coroner was Dr. J. O'Malley, sur, who endorsed the recommendation of the jury.

Dr. John Kenny, house doctor at the hospital, said the body was brought this morning to the hospital and it was examined. The body was in a static position, with the arms bent at right angles at the wrists, and the legs drawn up. The body was then placed in the position of a statue of the Virgin Mary, and the necropsy was performed. The heart and lungs were examined, and the cause of death was determined to be asphyxia due to suffocation. The body was then dressed in the clothing of the deceased, and was removed to the mortuary.

Mr. John Dyson, solicitor for the Coroner, said that the body was brought to the mortuary this morning, and that the necropsy was performed. The cause of death was determined to be asphyxia due to suffocation. The body was then dressed in the clothing of the deceased, and was removed to the mortuary.

BATTALION GETS ITS COLOURS

The 1st Battalion of the Royal Irish Fusiliers received its colours yesterday at a ceremony in the Drill Hall, Curragh Camp. The colours were presented by Major-General Sir W. H. E. Gell, C.B., C.M.G., and the ceremony was attended by a large number of officers and men of the battalion. The colours were presented by the Major-General to the Colour Sergeant, and the battalion then paraded in formation. The battalion then marched to the Drill Hall, where the colours were received by the Colour Sergeant. The battalion then paraded in formation, and the colours were presented to the Colour Sergeant by the Major-General. The battalion then paraded in formation, and the colours were presented to the Colour Sergeant by the Major-General.

DOG GOES TO JAIL DAILY

A dog has been convicted of stealing a daily visit to his master's house, and was sentenced to jail for a period of three months. The dog was charged with stealing a daily visit to his master's house, and was sentenced to jail for a period of three months. The dog was then turned free to the care of the police, and was returned to his master.

SCHOOL UNIFORMS

The 1st Houseowner American School in Dublin has introduced a new uniform for its pupils. The new uniform consists of a green jacket with a white collar and a white tie, and a white shirt. The new uniform is a change from the old uniform, which consisted of a grey jacket with a black collar and a black tie, and a grey shirt. The new uniform is a change from the old uniform, which consisted of a grey jacket with a black collar and a black tie, and a grey shirt.

PARACHUTIST JUMP RECORD BROKEN

Captain John Kitts, U.S. Navy, broke the parachute jump record on May 20, 1930, when he jumped from a height of 15,000 feet above the New Mexico desert. The altitude was a record at that time, and was considered to be a significant achievement. The altitude was a record at that time, and was considered to be a significant achievement.

SEAMEN'S STRIKE

There was a strike of seamen in New York City on May 20, 1930, when the seamen demanded higher wages. The strike was a result of the depression in the shipbuilding industry, and was considered to be a significant event. The strike was a result of the depression in the shipbuilding industry, and was considered to be a significant event.