Unionist newspapers, among them the "Daily Express," are also strongly in favour of an advance in Ireland on these lines. If these sentiments as yet find no pub'ic echo in Ulster, some allowance must be made for the Ulstermen's traditional tactics of presenting an unyielding front. The leaders of Belfast Protestantism should be aware that in settlement and compromise alone can the eventual solution be found, and they cannot be blind to the great advantages which would accrue to the Empire and the Allied cause if that solution could be found now instead of being deferred until after the war. Already throughout the southern provinces the world-conflict, has bridged many local and class differences. Nationalists and Unionists, Catholics and Protestants, peasants and landloids, fight side by side in the same battalions for the common cause. May we not hope that a similar bond of unity may develop, if less rapidly, between the South and the North?

LIMERICK FARMER'S DEATH.

Richard Phillips, a small farmer, residing at Ballymackeogh, some citime from Castleconnell, was in Limerick on Monday, and proceeded home by car towards evening. Later on it was reported to the Constabulary that he was discovered lying dead on the road to Ballymackeogh, and as the head of the deceased was cut and bruised, inquiries were instituted by the police. The deceased was well advanced in life, being seventy-four years, and on good terms with the people of his district, and District Inspector Craig having inquired into the circumstances of the occurrence, arrived at the conclusion that the man's death was accidentally caused. The horse which the map was driving took fright, and it is presumed that deceased was thrown from the car, and thereby sustained the injuries which were on his jerson. An inquest was held to-day, but the proceedings were merely formal.

DEATH OF MAJOR J. F. BANNATYNE.

We learn with very sincere regret of the death, which occurred on the 14th instant, from wounds received in action, of Major James FitzGerald Bannatyne, XI. Hussars, attached to the Manchester Regiment. This gallant officer, who was in his 32nd year, was the only son of the late Mr J. FitzGerald Bannatyne, D.L., and Mrs Bannatyne, of Haldon, Devonshire, and Farningstown Castle, Co. Limerick. The news of his death has been received with sorrow in Limerick, and the sympathy of very many friends is extended to Mrs Bannatyne in her bereavement.
