

city, continued to patrol with detachments of cavalry and infantry throughout Monday night, and the Police, under Chief Constable Williams, co-operated with the military. The night passed in tranquillity, and the morning of yesterday came as if all were to remain so, the tumult of the previous day having subsided into apparent quiet and repose. But another demonstration of popular force was made in Upper William-street, about 12 o'clock, when a fellow marched at the head of a mob, having a loaf of bread at the top of a pole, which he carried, The Mayor, who was on horseback from an early hour, instantly felt the danger of allowing this fellow to renew by such a signal the disturbance of Monday. He, accompanied by the Hon. J. P. Vereker, rode up at once to the crowd, and secured the fugleman of this division, whom he placed in custody, though at imminent risk to his own person. The rioters vociferated for their leader, and commenced an attack upon the Mayor and his small party, but the prisoner was held firm, though the Mayor in the struggle received various blows from stones. Sir William Macbean and Colonel Mansel rode up to his assistance with a reinforcement of military, and the leader of the mob was safely deposited in prison. The Mayor read the Riot Act in the midst of this commotion, and warned the crowds if they did not retire he would be obliged to order the troops to fire. This threat had the desired effect, and no further attempt was made to raise a disturbance. Occasional crowds collected opposite these provision shops and stores, which had been destined to plunder, but at three o'clock yesterday all further alarm for the public peace had ceased. At four, when the City had returned to its propriety, and the mob had seen the futility of any more attempts, the Mayor then conceived it his duty to hold a special meeting of his fellow-citizens for the humane purpose of alleviating the distress of the really destitute by a public subscription.

The following hand-bill was issued for this purpose:—
“The Mayor earnestly requests a meeting of his fellow-citizens, at the City Court House, this day, at 4 o'clock, to take into consideration the distressed state of the labouring poor; and to adopt such measures as may be deemed most conducive to ameliorate their present condition.—Tholsel Court, Limerick, June 2.”

Pursuant to the requisition of the Mayor, a meeting of the citizens was held at four o'clock last evening, at the Tholsel Court, to raise subscriptions and adopt measures to relieve the distresses of the necessitous. The meeting was attended by a great number of the influential citizens, among whom were Archdeacon Maunsell, Colonel Mansel, K. H., Hon. J. P. Vereker, William Monsell, Esq., Tervoe; Francis Spaight, Esq., James D. Lyons, Esq., Reuben Harvey, Esq., James Harvey, Esq., Michael Gavin, Esq., Henry Owen, Esq., Captain Kane, &c. &c. The Mayor presided, and in a most impressive manner pointed out the serious consequences that would result from the unlawful and riotous proceedings witnessed the previous day, which had thrown the peaceable inhabitants into alarm and deprived the public markets of their usual supplies. He told the lower classes (by whom the body of the court was filled) that every exertion would be made to allay their wants, but if they again attempted to disturb the peace of the city, he and the authorities would be reluctantly obliged to resort to measures which might leave many of them sorrowful hearts. By conducting themselves in a quiet peaceable and orderly manner, in a few days, or perhaps hours, their markets would be again supplied.

William Monsell, Esq., regretted the distress that had compelled the poor to resort to such riotous acts, and said he could forward willingly to subscribe towards their relief.

The following resolutions were then adopted:—
“That it appears to us that the destitute state of the poor of this City and Liberties, at the present time, requires our exertions for creating a fund for their relief, and that Committees be formed in the several Parishes for promoting this most essential and desirable purpose.
“Resolved—That the landed proprietors and all others possessing property in the City and Liberties be written to for subscriptions.
“Resolved—That a Committee do apply to the Banks and other public offices through the City, for their assistance towards the fund now opened.”

A Committee then was appointed, and near £200 was subscribed on the spot.

The Hon. J. P. Vereker, said he had just purchased ten ton of oatmeal at Mr. Gabbett's, who had given it £1 a ton cheaper than he sold it to others, with directions to state at the meeting that he would also subscribe as largely as any one else.

The oatmeal was in course of distribution to the poor same evening, at the Exchange.

Mr. William Magrath, a very respectable Peace Officer, was up at the first indication of riot at George's-quay, and subsequently near the Mayor's house, but the multitude determined on outrage, would not regard him.

The following rioters, arrested on Monday and Tuesday, were this morning brought up at the City Police Office, where Alderman Fitzgerald, Alderman Crips, T. P. Vokes, and Francis Spaight, Esqrs. presided, and on being identified by the Police, were committed to prison.—John Ryan, John Hurley, Richard Boland, Michael Duffy, John Cooney, Mich. Lynch, Thomas Hayes, Daniel Casey, James Gabbett, George Turner, Denis O'Brien, Richard M'Mahon, Bridget Cussen, Ellen Holehan, Catherine Holehan, Johanna Shanessy, Margaret Holehan, Margaret English, Mary Lyons. They were escorted to prison by a strong Police force, and a party of the 17th Lancers, followed by an immense crowd of persons. Alderman Crips accompanied the party.

Collateral with the lawless proceedings above detailed, we have to report the perpetration of an outrage, last Monday, which exceeds in enormity audacity and amount any herein recorded. The Canal boat of the City Dublin Company was coming from Tomgran to this city with a cargo of kiln-dried oats, for shipment to London, when a furious mob attacked the crew of the boat at Garrykennedy, took forcible possession of the entire cargo, and carried off no less than 360 barrels of grain, a free booty, without any impediment! The oats was the property of Mathew Reddan, Esq.

We felt much gratified on Monday, at the Launch of Mr. J. N. Russell's new Schooner, “The Fanny.” His building-yard and the quays at both sides of the river were crowded with spectators, though the city was much excited at the time, by the disorderly crowds in motion. At half-past six o'clock the launch took place, and she entered the waters of the noble Shannon with facility, and dignity. Her decks were crowded, and she was covered with flags and ornamented with flowers. The Fanny is a very handsome schooner of her class, and is intended to trade between this port, Tralee and England. Mr. Russell is now preparing to lay down a large Vessel, over 400 tons register, for the East India trade.
