DEATHS.

At the early age of 31 years, at Woolwich, on the 6th instant, Major Vandeleur, R. A., much respected and esteemed both in his native county (Clare), and by all who had the pleasure of his acquaintance. To his amiable lady, the daughter of J. Mofony, of Kiltannon, Esq. J. P. D. L., it is a sad bereavement, and to his young family the death of such a parent is an irreparable loss. A number of influential families in Clare are placed in mourning by the sad occurrence.

On Sunday night, at his residence, Charlotte's-quay, after a short illness, of rheumatic fever, Michael Ruttle, Esq. proprietor of the City Bakery. The unexpected death, in the prime of life, of an attached husband and devoted parent has brought grief and sorrow in its remorseless path, leaving a disconsolate young widow to deplore the loss of a kind, tender, and affectionate partner, who was at all times solicitous to promote the domestic comfort and happiness of a juvenile and interesting family. Truly Christian in spirit and intention, as a leading member of the Primitive Wesleyan community, Mr. Ruttle took an active part, with advantage, in forwarding the interests of the society, by whose members he was held in high and deserved esteem. In his business relations he was strictly upright, while those in his employ sadly deplore the loss of a considerate master, whose object it was to promote the comfort of the working classes; and, in proof of the services rendered by him in abolishing night and Sunday work, we publish in another column a letter from the operative bakers, bearing testimony to his worth. This morning the remains of the deceased gentleman were conveyed for interment to the family vault at Nantenant, in this county, the funeral cortege being most respectable.

At his residence, Bedford-row, London, on Friday last, James Philip Doyle, Esq. Barrister-at-Law, aged 44 years, and only surviving son of the late Philip Doyle, Esq. of this city, a gentleman of the highest talent in his profession, and universally beloved and respected by all who knew his amiability of character. Mr Doyle was many years connected with the London press.

On Saturday last, the 9th instant, at his residence, Millview, in this county, James O'Donovan, Esq, eldest son of the late John O'Donovan, Esq. He is deeply and deservedly regretted by a large circle of friends, to whom his goodness of heart and kind and genial disposition had endeared him.

At Roebuck, Charles Samuel Grey, Esq, Paymaster of Civil Services in Dublin Castle.

In Dublin, Thomas Delahoyde Coleman, Esq, formerly of Drogheda.

At Seville-place, Dublin, Elizabeth, daughter of Jonathan Jones, Esq, late of Ticoock, county Dublin.

At Lower Pembroke-street, Dublin, the wife of Mr J Weldon.

In Cavan, Mr Terence Flood.

In Dublin, Mr George Frederick Armstrong, late of the Magnetic Telegraph Office.

Mr Patrick Roman, of Kinghill, county Down.

In Belfast, Mrs Armstrong, relict of the Rev W J Armstrong, aged 101 years.

At Borrioleigh, at the patriarchal age of 99 years, Mr Lawrence Brien, farmer.

At Islington, London, James, son of Mr William M'Cann, of Lisburn.

At Windsor, Maria, relict of the late Lieut-Colonel Rochfort, 10th Hussars.

At Great Durnford, Capt Wm W Chambers, R N.

At Kurrachee, Edward B Weaver, Esq, late of the 86th Regt.

At Dundee, Lieut-General Sir Wm Chalmers.

At Kurrachee, Henry Emmanuel Scott, Esq, Civil Engineer, son of the late Lieut-Colonel Scott, Mid-Lothian.

At Bafford House, near Cheltenham, General Sir David Leighton, Bombay Army.

At Painswick, Gloucestershire, Colonel G Stuart.
