

maintained with the wishes either of country. The plan which he would propose, and which, he was enabled not only to the Irish clergy, but to the clergy of the treasury, by the sale of the thing in addition was required at there could be nothing so manner by an acreable tax on here was at present a right of allowed, he should propose, e for the last three years, and complaints, that the valuation y 21 years. If such a system ould the bone of contention, in Ireland, be withdrawn, and a mine of wealth to England, sea upon her, as she had been mber for Corfe-castle (Baukes) has made it his duty on all t contemptuously of Ireland, in his ignorance on this oc-

alled the Honorable General to appy, however, that the hon. a just rebuke, not from the Exchequer, but from the Eng- also. nterfered, begging of the hon. marks, as by the rules of the den. expressed his pleasure at the had received. if it was the pleasure of the ould be acted up to? [This be- chair, chair! from every part eaker then informed the hon. of the house, such reflections rbliden; on which the honble.

it had never been his practice disrespectfully of an individual tion. He had looked into the eland; and it was a thorough ted state of its finances which e the observations which had on. General. His experience er, had confirmed rather than s he then felt. As to the hon. felt and expressed himself to- As to the affairs of Ireland, it age of that country, if other England had attended to them done. lared himself satisfied with the was for the hon. gentleman to ht he had already done so. was satisfied that what had lat- on friend (General Mathew) ception. The hon. gentleman d himself a great friend to I- onous view of the collection, that country. Sir John then in support of the motion; in by Mr. Abercrombie, Mr. W. Mr. Parnell to reply, and Mr. division took place—

.....20
.....54
.....—35

N, JUNE 11.
ns from Winterton, on the coast icer had landed there with dis- , which state that Sir J. Sauma- edish navy, and that the amount lid not exceed 200 men. ove information, we have made eing able to ascertain that go- ny such information.

Soult in a terrible manner during his retreat to Seville, which place he reached with only 10,000 men.
A Mail from Anholt also arrived this morning. By the accounts which it brings, it would appear that the Turks refuse to enter into any negotiations with the Russians, till the latter shall have renounced all claims to Moldavia and Wallachia.
RIGA, MAY 8.—The Imperial French Ambassador, Count Lauriston, arrived here yesterday at noon, on his passage to St. Petersburg. The count proceeded on his journey at an early hour this morning.
VIENNA, MAY 15.—The newest accounts from Constantinople state, that the Capitan Pacha will, in the course of next May, appear in the Black Sea, with such a fleet as has not been fitted out by the Porte for a century past. It will consist of 40 sail of line of battle ships, frigates, and corvettes, and to which will be added 30 large gun-boats, which have been built and fitted out in the harbour of Constantinople during the winter.

THURSDAY, JUNE 13.

Dispatches from Lord Wellington, dated from Head Quarters near Elvas, were received yesterday. They principally relate to the siege of Badajoz, and the retreat of Marshal Soult to Seville.
It appears by the printed Journals from Lisbon, which are to the 3d instant that the Spanish army of Murcia, which was formerly stated to have entered Granada, defeated Sebastiani on the 13th near Baza, with the loss of 500 killed and wounded, and 160 prisoners; and the Spaniards are stated to have subsequently advanced into Andalusia. Marmont it is understood, has put his troops in motion for the Southward, in which case the principal part of our army on the Agueda will of course be at liberty to make a similar movement.

Letters from Cadiz to the 31st ult. have been received by the Diana Packet, which has arrived at Falmouth. They state, that the French were preparing to raise the siege of Cadiz, and that General Graham had ordered every boat that could be spared to be in readiness to convey his gallant army to any point from which the enemy might be annoyed in his retreat.

The Cadiz letters say nothing of the arrival of Soult at Seville: but it is not likely that he would give much publicity to his hasty retreat. He seems to have been roughly handled in his retreat; and it is with reluctance we have to inform our readers that General Gazan, and the 4000 wounded men whom he had under his care as communicated in his intercepted letter to Soult, have been massacred by the Spaniards!

An active Guerilla has intercepted Prince D'Arenberg, and his escort of 100 horse, in the way from Seville to Madrid, and made that chief himself, and about 80 of his cavalry prisoners. The Prince D'Arenberg has shown great activity in the French service during the invasion of Spain. When taken he had important dispatches about his person.

The following letter fully proves how important the acquisition of Figueras was to the patriotic cause:

TARRAGONA, APRIL 30.
“ We have taken in Figueras 45,000 sacks of wheat, 22,000 rations of bread, 11,000 quarters of barley, 4000 sides of bacon, 300 pipes of brandy, 500 live oxen 1200 pieces of artillery, 60,000 muskets, with powder, ball, grenades, and other ammunition, adequate to sustain a siege of ten years. Two millions of perçetas (a silver coin value about 10d.) with all the money and valuables of the Generals and others, with 800 carts to convey these effects to any more convenient situation.
“ Evoles, before he entered Figueras, cut his way through an army of 7000 men, of which he destroyed a whole battalion, losing only 80 of his own followers.
“ The French have assembled all their forces in the Ampurdan in front of Figueras, about 8000 strong. We have 7000 men, commanded by Sarsfield, with 1000 cavalry quite close to them. It is presumed that battle has been already given.
“ We have an account of Suchet having left Lerida with 5000 men. His object doubtless is to secure Gerona and Ostarich, where the garrisons are on half allowance. If Sarsfield, as we expect, has beaten the

.....20
.....54
.....—35

THE KING.
“ Windsor, June 13, 2 p. m.

“ The King had an indifferent night's rest, with symptoms of returning fever, but was better towards morning, and is quite composed.—A Bulletin has been sent up to the Queen's Council, which merely says that his Majesty is not worse than he was yesterday. The Queen had an interview with his Majesty this morning. In the evening he is seldom seen.”

The Right Hon. John Foster, is no longer Chancellor of the Exchequer in Ireland. His occupation of office we understand, ceased with his last functional effort in the House of Commons. The duties incident to that situation, it is supposed will be performed by commissioners.

On Sunday last the body of a woman, named Margaret Ryan, a servant, was found drowned in the Canal where it was supposed to have lain for a fortnight.—A Coroner's inquest was held on the body at the City Court-House, yesterday; and from marks of violence appearing on the neck, and other circumstances, the Jury brought a verdict of “ Suicide.”

We are sorry to mention that about the hour of 12 o'clock on Tuesday night, as Mr. Bartholemew O'Brien, a respectable master tailor of this town, Thomas Connor, and Thomas Donoghue (two of his journeymen), were returning from a christening at the west suburbs, they met the wife of one of the privates of the Royal Tyrone militia, who some of the party accosted in an unbecoming manner, and caused her to call aloud—which, being heard by her husband, he came to her assistance, when a scuffle ensued—the soldier and his wife immediately retired into their lodgings, and were followed to the door by the above persons, when the soldier fired, and unfortunately killed O'Brien. A coroner's inquest was held on the body the following day, who, after a long examination of witnesses, returned the following verdict:—“ We find, that the above-named Bartholemew O'Brien came by his death in consequence of a musket ball fired at him by Aneas McGarr, a soldier of the Tyrone militia, in his own defence, as appears by the evidence that came before us.—Galway Paper.

MARRIED—P. De Lacy O'Brien, Esq. only nephew to the Right Hon. Field Marshal De Lacy, to Miss Simpson; only daughter to Capt. Simpson, of Bath, and grand Daughter to Sir G. Colinus, Bart.—A few days ago, Mr. J Corbett, proprietor of the Music Ware-House, Patrick-street, to the amiable and highly accomplished Miss Dodd, of the Crescent, Newtown-Pery.

DIED—On Saturday last, at his house in Thomas-street, in this city, Robert Johnston, Esq. Inspector General of Excise for the province of Munster. During a series of years in which he filled that situation, he was never known to have committed one act of oppression, nor, has he in a single instance, compromised the rights of the crown. All ranks of people held him in the highest estimation, and even those whom his duties made it imperiously necessary to visit with legal penalties, have almost uniformly acknowledged the propriety of his having done so, and considered him the more highly entitled to their respect and esteem.—In an extended circle of friends and acquaintance, his private character shone conspicuous, for every amiable and endearing quality, which renders man the favorite of society; and his afflicted widow, children, and relatives, will long feel with sensible regret their having been deprived of an husband, parent, and protector. His remains were attended to the place of interment by a great number of gentlemen, all of whom shewed evident and convincing symptoms of the loss which they had sustained, and sufficiently proved, that “ when a good man dies, the world is his mourner.”—On Thursday morning last, at his house, on the Sand-quay, Cork, George Shea, Esq. a gentleman of the most sterling probity and most independent spirit, and who had for many years sustained the character of one of the most eminent merchants in that city.—At Castlefrench, co. Galway, after a long indisposition, occasioned by a rapid decline, in the 15th year of her age, Margaret, third daughter of the Right Hon. Lord Effrench. She was a young lady of rare endowments,

said County w 17th Day of
and at Rathk aforsaid, for Processes m Court. The
on will be lef
Attorney, Rat
cesses.—Date

It is request turn their In Clerk of the P

UNI On THE Breth
at their ing, ~~Town~~, of
P. M. to trans
the Festival of Dining, are re
before, or on t
Dinner

Limerick, Jun

THE
On THE Breth
A Room, day next, the transact Busin
and celebrate
To accomm
Degree.
Dinner on th
Sign

Limerick, Jur

FOR PATRON Before whom forming thi Frogmore.

The Public

At the

BANN
AN AC

BEING a Parts, w
BANNISTER Lane.) The Prose and Ver expressly for
rooms, CHER
The whole of arranged by principally co
med by Mr. R Doors to be to begin at E
to be had at
Mr. COOPER
of Mr. Halm 63 The
TOWN, Ju