Extract of a letter from London, June 14. "We are particularly happy on hearing it reported last night, that an accommodation was likely to take place between a Great Perfonage and the Prince of Wales." As his Majesty's most gracious speech at the rifing of the British Parliament on Tuesday last, fpeaks nothing of the negociations going forward in Paris between Mr. Eden and the French | Ministry, we have good reason to presume that the articles published about ten days ago in the London Newspapers, as the basis, or preliminaries of a commercial treaty between the two nations, were not grounded on any other authority, than the vague furmiles, or idle imaginations of speculative writers.

Yesterday the Tickets were cut off into the Wheels A and B, at the Government Lottery Office in Crampton Court, preparatory to the Drawing of the State Lottery, which will commence on Monday the 7th of August next, and will continue for twenty-eight days-the scheme contains above one hundred capital prizes, and is one of the best ever fet on foot in this kingdom.

Last Sunday sen'night the Queen of France was fafely delivered of a Princels, which was named Sophia.

Lady Percy, Lord Bute's eldest daughter, is arrived from America, where the has refided for fome time.

We hear that at the great wool-lair at Mullingar, which ended last Friday, there was a great demand, not a bag remained unfold .-Current price from fourteen shillings to fourteen shillings and nine pence per stone.

A gentleman found guilty at the last affizes of Rolcommon, for forcing the possession of some lands, and fentenced for execution on the 25th ult, in consequence thereof, but respited to the 25th inft. has been graciously pardoned on giving fecurity for future obedience to the laws.

A Privy Council it is faid will be held on Monday next, in confequence of recent advices from Ulfter.

A third West Indiaman has entered our harbour, and four more are expected within a fortnight, from which circumstance we may prefume to declare that notwithstanding the illiberal restrictions with which a partial explanation of the navigation laws has coerced Ireland, the industry of our merchants may at last prevail in such a degree, as to force at at least some trade from the West Indies directly.

We are confidently informed that a Member of the first consequence in our House of Commons is determined to bring in a bill at an early period of the feshions, for laying a tax of two faillings in the pound on the effates of all abfentees; which, if passed into a law, will produce the fum annually of 140,000l. This if properly applied, may be a great means of alleviating part of the public burdens.

We are informed that a gentleman of the first ftyle in the fashionable world, has forfeited two thousand guineas, for not performing a voyage to the East Indies, which he had undertaken fome time ago, for a very confiderable fum.

Much has been faid, much has been written, on the subject of the Hasting's diamond, -If the story, as told, is true, is certainly came to hand, at a most unlucky period. - If otherwife, and a prefent, of fuch immense value, was conveyed to the King, in order to bias him in the administration of executive justice, it was the most daring, unparalleled, and flagrant attempt that ever blazoned the annals of Agatic corruption.

A gentleman arrived from the county of Carlow, gives the melancholy account of four men being stifled in one of the coal pits, by a fudden hot exhalation which iffued from a new vein they had opened. The effects of this vapour were fo strong as to be fensibly felt by feveral persons who stood near the brink of the pit, but the dizziness and difficulty of breathing paffed off in a few feconds, as they were fortunately in the clear air.

On Monday was married, at St. James's church, Capt. Leo, of the Royal Irish Volunteers, to Miss Letitia Davies, of Llanwich, in the county of Denbigh, North Wales.

Tralee. July 17. A few days ago, as Mr. Edward Eagar, of Liftry, in this county, was attempting to execute a decree on one Foulue, the latter suspecting his intent, and being armed with a loaded Firelock, discharged it at the former on his approach, and lodged the contents in his head, of which he instantly expired,

The White Boys flill perfift in their meetings, both by night and day; no part of the county is free from them, except just in the neighourhood of this town. They meet without any fort of offensive weapons, and merely, as they fay, to redrefs the oppressions of the poor with LIMERICK.

We are happy to find that only two men, O'Brien of Newcastle, and Murphy of Drum coloher, were killed last Sunday se'nnight near Rathkeal, and that the prudent measures taken by the Mayor and Recorder of Limerick, and I John Brown, of Mount Brown, Efq; are likely to be attended with the most falutary effects. The peafantry of Munster are determined to wait peaceably until fome able fenator shall convince the Parliament that this useful body of men have been oppressed by heavy and un equal taxes, operating at once to the discouragement of agriculture and population, which form the strength of every kingdom No doubt but the enemies of Ireland are glad of an opportunity to traduce our national character, but it is very evident from the whole conduct of these ignorant men, that they never harboured any thing hoftile to government. Their loyalty to King George III. has been often proved in fighting his battles, and their gratitude to government has been often expressed, for giving them liberty of religious worship, and to take long leases; what remains to make their lives in some small degree comfortable, we hope will be effected by a PATRIOT KING, and a wife and good go-
