A NARROW ESCAPE

When Michael Bresnihan, a farm servant, was driving a bull from one field to another at Newpark, Kilmallock (writes our Kilmallock correspondent), the animal suddenly turned on him, felling him to the ground and passing in the impetus of his charge right over his prostrate victim. Fortunately, before the animal could recover his balance, the man was able to roll to the foot of a fence which was close by, and, although badly shaken, he managed to drag himself up to a place of safety. His injuries were slight and after a couple of days in bed he is up and about again.

DEATH.

Trehy—On July 5th, 1944, Patrick Trehy, at People's Park; deeply regretted by his loving wife and family. Remains will be removed to St. Michael's Church this (Wednesday) evening at 9 o'clock.
