

the selection has met with satisfaction, and opinion that the Ahane "big five," all difficulties and problems consideration, have made a job of it. There are three on the side which played drawn game. Paddy Scanlon, elected, has decided to stay in and a last minute decision Dinny Malone called in to gap; Mick Kennedy, staging usual come-back, will be his protector in room of P. Carville Jim Cooney replaces T. in the right corner. The twelve are unchanged in position.

On stage the changes look all right, but it will take an hour's to decide it. Malone is the -minder in the county, and he was not played since the the present campaign. He started with a big job on Sunday one which he is quite of. He is not lacking in pace. In addition his tremendous kick out will be of great to the side and will remove of the mid-field pressure. Kennedy hung up his togs years ago. He has not hurled. The selectors take a big in playing him, but if he reproduce a fraction of former greatness a difficult will be solved, J. Cooney decided improvement. He ty of speed, is a grand hurany scores got off him will earned. It is a wise policy the rest of the combination played, for there is little in changing a man after himself a success in a certion.

At the teams on paper, it is a wise man who would the result. The changes led to the great uncertainty outcome, and never before in interest and enthusiasm down in a Munster Final in corner of Gaeldom, but in Limerick. Already the kick to Thurles has comand bikes are on the way as every other available of transport. Who will win? the question of the hour, and everything else has legated to the background. t corners, at country cross-merits and possibilities respective fifteens have been again and again. Excited and interest have reached ch and will not recede until hour of thrilling, glorious will have decided the issue or another.

Limerick line-out will be "Thomond's" column).
