policy towards Ireland," wrote Sir Roger Casement, "Germany may win the present war on the Continent, but she will never win her freedom abroad." He realised even more clearly than Prussia that Ireland is the key to the maritime power o' the world.

Would Germany leave that key in Ireland's No more than she has left the key to keeping ' land power in Europe in Belgium's keeping. Do you suppose that Belgium wanted anything but to be allowed to live her own life in peace? Germany would not let har, and Germany would not let Ireland. Ireland can no more than Belgium escape the fate of her geographical position as one of the strategic points of the world.

Do you want the Germans to do the same to Ireland as they did to Belgium? They would have done it already but for the protection of the British Fleet | Whether you are Nationalist or Unionist, whether you want self-g vernment or the Union, remember that the freedom of Ireland in any degree depends upon the defeat of Germany and the victory of the Allies in this war,
