A man of the name of Thomas Powell, who formerly served in the Limerick City Militia, fell out of a two-story window, Windmill-street, on Thursday, and was so dreadfully bruised on the face and head, that the brain was visible, and both thighs fractured in the fall, yet the unfortunate sufferer lingered for two hours after. Aldermen D. F. G. Mahony and H. Watson held an inquest on the body. Verdict—Accidental death.

A boy of the name of Charles Hammel, died in Hospital this week of fever induced by the blow of a stone on the head, so far back as the 23d at August, on the North Strand.

A grown female of the name of Margaret Hanrahan was found drowned at the Revenue quay, Kilrush, on Monday.

A man named Daniel Hickey was this week struck with the handle of a pitchfork, in executing a decree at Dromkeen, by which a fracture of the head ensued.

The Magistrates of Newcastle have ordered informations against Hanna Liston and Honora Ambrose, for abduction of a keg of whiskey intended for the Curtin faction at the late fair of Knockaderry, but which was seized and carried off to their opponents the Connors party.

A reward of £50 is offered by Government for the murderers of Denis Moloughny, at Clöhinch, county Tipperary, last week.

The Lord Lieutenant offers £50 reward for the incendiaries who burned the house, barn, and granary of Persse Groome, Esq. at Clontuskart, County Galway.

The Earl of Clonmel has offered £50 reward for the murderers of Michael Blake, servant of Mr. Michael Fitzgerald, of Jessfield, Tipperary, one of his Lordship's tenants.

Between nine and ten o'clock on Friday night, a destructive fire broke out in Lord Clonbrock's residence near Castleblakeney, by which the left wing of the building, and several valuable articles of furniture were totally destroyed; and had it not been for the timely and active assistance of the Tenantry and the Police, the entire fabric must have inevitably shared the same fate. The damage sustained cannot yet be accurately ascertained, but it is calculated to be not less than 2000*l*. The accident is supposed to have occurred by the dropping of a coal from one of the grates in an upper room, which set fire to the flooring and from thence communicated to the adjacent apartments before it was discovered. His Lordship is at present in Scotland.

Three daring thefts were committed a short time ago, in the course of one night, in the neighbourhood of Larne.—The property stolen was three valuable horses, belonging to Mr. Robert Shaw, Mr. Joseph Barr, and Mr. William K. Martin. It would appear that the fellow who stole them had galloped them the whole way to the Waterside, and having rested them for a short time, he put them on board one of the steamers of Derry, which was on the eve of her
