

of the legislative union (cheers.) I call from upon every man who hears me, and every man in the country, of every creed, sect, and persuasion, to rally for old Ireland and repeal (great applause.)

must be free; she has been too long sunk in bondage. Let me ask you are our prospects declining (no.) I am happy to inform all federalists we are delighted to have men who wish to see their country prosper—and that she will prosper with a federal government—enrolled as members. I prefer—and most around me, I believe, prefer—a simple repeal of the obnoxious act of union: still, there are none of us who would not be glad to see a federal parliament established in this country. (cheers.) Mr. Gray Porter, Protestant High Sheriff of Fermanagh, has proposed himself a federalist (although that he has not done us)—and I have called upon him in the name of the Irish people, and offered him if he should be a member of the association, the position of a leader in the great movement—for I am not at all anxious to be a leader—I am ready to be driven. (cheers.)

What we want is equal justice—repeal for all, and ascendancy for none (loud cheers.) This is our creed—this is our practice—these are our objects. Ascendancy I will not have, and I will come to another impediment in the way of repeal—namely, the supposed confiscation of property (hear.) I say that property is not safe in Ireland when six millions of Irish money is spent out of the country (tremendous applause.) But, upon the other side, if repeal were obtained, property would be perfectly secure; therefore it is that men of every party should be actively engaged in the struggle; let me remind them, that when an opportunity presents itself, it can seldom be regained (loud cheers.)

I call upon men of all religions to “agitate, agitate,” (cheers.) The Irish people are entitled to their birth to this land; and without depriving any other people of their property or liberty they shall become disenthralled and free (loud cheers.) Ireland shall be a united people, united to England by the golden chain of the crown, and having the power of legislation for herself, and thereby increased means of improvement. That day is fast approaching. It is far distant, when I see around me the real representatives of the people from all parts of Ireland, and the most patriotic Smith O'Brien in the chair—and the hierarchy of Ireland. (great applause.)

Behold, Ireland, you shall be a nation again—it is a decreed law, therefore I call upon Christians of every denomination to rally with me for old Ireland and repeal (loud cheers.)

A gentleman sat down amidst tremendous applause. O'Connell again rose, and said that it became his duty to propose a toast which he was sure would all warmly respond to, namely, the health of the most ancient and wealthy of the Irish families, the health of Mr. O'Brien, their respected chairman, and of his friend (loud cheers.) He was an anti-slavery and openly avowed his sentiments, so much so, that he refused to accept the representation of his country upon the terms of his conceding (cheers.) That the conduct of their chairman—the descendant of the most ancient and wealthy of the Irish families, he was tolerably well known to the assembly, he did not trespass further on their attention than by proposing his health (tremendous applause.)

The Chairman said he had occasion often to charge upon Mr. O'Connell with a disposition to exaggerate his merits, and he might possess, and the company would take care that he did not accuse them with being so (laughter). He felt he trod the land that he knew he had a gallant nation by his side, and that they would be free (cheers.) He would go more than that he felt convinced the victory would be theirs, and he would add, that the triumph would be peaceful and bloodless in its results (cheers.)

Mr. Tom Maguire said that the chairman, whose name he should obey almost at the risk of the life of the Protestant Patriots of Ireland.” (cheers.)

After the routine toasts having been proposed, the com-the Commissariat Department, nephew of the late General Blachford, of Kew, to Emma Jane, daughter of J. Moss, Esq.

At St. Andrew's Church, Graham's-town, Cape of Good Hope, Mr. John Murray Aitchison, to Caroline, daughter of Mr. William Gillmer, of Cape Town.

At Florence, Alberic, eldest son of the Marquis Balbian, of Colcavagno, Piedmont, to Amelia, daughter of S. Price, Esq. of Hendon House.

Wm. Donnellan, of Summer-hill Parade, Esq. to Miss Alicia White, of Blackrock.

At Whitechurch, Cornelius O'Callaghan, of Brookville, Esq. to Mary, eldest daughter of the late Mr. Peter Campbell.

At Bathwick Church, Bath, Thomas Johnston Stoney, Esq. of Harvest Lodge, county of Tipperary, to Eliza Pattison, eldest daughter of Thomas Isaac, Esq.

DEATHS.

At Kilkee, on Sunday morning last, Croker Barrington, Esq. Lieutenant of the Royal Navy, and son of Sir Joseph Barrington, Bart. of this City. The deceased officer made his debut in the service as a Midshipman, at Algiers, under the late Admiral Lord Exmouth, and soon after was promoted for his gallantry in that formidable and glorious operation against a nest of infidel pirates, who had long infested the Mediterranean. His remains were interred this afternoon in the family vault at St. Mary's Church.

On the 16th of this month, in Rathkeale, aged 69 years, sincerely regretted by all who had the pleasure of her acquaintance, to whom she was endeared by her many amiable qualities and gentle disposition, Margaret, relict of the late Lieut. John Harnett, of the Carlow Militia, and afterwards of the 2nd Light Dragoons. She bore a long and painful illness with the most edifying and exemplary Christian resignation.

At the parsonage, Magherafelt, in his eighty-fifth year, the Rev. Thomas Agmondisham Vesey, thirty-seven years Rector of the parish of Magherafelt, and sixty years a clergyman in the diocese of Armagh.

At the Ursuline Convent, Waterford, Mrs. Raleigh, several years a sister of the order, and formerly of William-street, in this City.

At her residence, Charlemont-mall, Dublin, Susan Jackson, one of the oldest members of the Society of Friends, relict of the late Mr. Joshua Jackson, of Youghal, and aunt of the Hon. Judge Jackson.

At Dungarvan, Susanna, wife of Matthew L. Godkin, Esq. and daughter of Neal O'Donnel, Esq.

Mary, second child of Robert J. O'Donoghue, Esq. of Killinardish.

At Clogheen, Mr. William Kennelly.

At Caher, Mr. Edmond Holahan.

At Houndswood, county of Mayo, John, eldest son of Martin D'Arcy, Esq.

Mr. Peter Hoey, of Duleek, county Meath.

At Mountpleasant-square, Martha, relict of the late James Wilkins, Esq. of Elm-villa, South Circular-road.

At Serpentine-avenue, Sandymount, the Rev. Samuel Murray.

At Webstersplace, Haddington-road, Jane, widow of the Rev. John Grant.

At his residence, Ashfield Park, near Clogher, Joseph Trimble, Esq.

In Longford, Mr. James Mathews, and Mr. Nicholas Lamb, boot and shoe maker.

Henry, son of Mr. John Reburn, Kingscourt.

At the residence of his brother, General Wright, at Guayaquil, Oliver Fairtlough, son of Joseph Wright, Esq. Queensboro', London.

Of fever, at Kamptee, M. W. Lloyd, Esq. H. E. I. C. Service, son of the late Captain W. Lloyd, R.N. of Cork.

Jane, wife of William Wallis, Esq. of Erdington Grange, and daughter of the late Lieut.-Colonel M'Donnell, of Lochgarry, Perthshire.

On the Coast Guard Service, Lieut. Joseph Wright, R.N.

At Myrtle-street, Liverpool, Mr. John Hartley Fawcett.

At Douglas, Isle of Man, Thomas Howard, Esq. formerly a Lieutenant in the Oxford Militia.

Captain Robert Macleod, one of the earliest members of the Union Club, Trafalgar-square.

At Ventnor, Isle of Wight, the Rev. John Sterling.

The Rev. William Jones, Rector of Scartho, Lincolnshire, and of Llanvillo, Breconshire.

Benjamin Barlow, Esq. of the Sparth, near Rochdale, aged 82.

At Shanwick-place, Edinburgh, Margaret, daughter of the late Sir William Honyman, Bart.

At Tonbridge-wells, Edward Stuart, Esq.

Suddenly, at his residence, Willow Bank Cottage, near Ryde, Isle of Wight, Captain James Johnson, of the East India Company's Service.

At Rheola, Glamorganshire, Mrs. Edwards Vaughan, widow of John E. Vaughan, Esq. formerly M.P. for that county.

At Cheltenham, Maria, widow of Captain George Hope Johnstone, R.N.

At Leamington, the Hon. Mrs. Cameron, widow of the late Donald Cameron, of Lochiel.

At Barrow-upon-Soar, Leicestershire, Elizabeth Storer, the lady of Major-General William Gray.

At Hastings, William Lucas Shadwell, Esq. Deputy Lieutenant of the county of Sussex, aged 79.

At Wellington, New Zealand, in a duel with Mr. Ross, W. V. Brewer, Esq. barrister-at-law.

At Kurrachee, Captain Arthur Meadows, 18th Native Infantry, son of Edward Meadows, Esq. of Wexford.

At Dundrum, county Dublin, Mrs. Frances Amelia Hinde, aged 81, the venerable and venerated mother of Benjamin Hinde, Esq. Hardwicke-street.

At Barnstaple, Spencer John, aged 15 years, son of the Rev. William Knox, of Clonleigh.

of the resident Minister Each Proposal to be and addressed thus:—
“ Proposal for Repair
“ The Ecclesiastic

Outrage

WHEREAS, on Friday my house at Woodlands, was attacked by some persons, entered my Office and removed my papers, opened my safe, and took out a quantity of pistols, (brand Limerick, I hereby offer a reward for their recovery and prosecution) Calendar Months, of the above outrage, or £50 information as will lead to the offenders.

Woodlands, Castle-C
24th Sept., 1844.

Cashel St

SATURDAY, Oct. 12. £70 added weight for Subscribers on the 1st entered on the 8th.

County Plate Stakes for age, mile-and-a-half

MONDAY, Oct. 14.—£40 added, to mile heats sovs. 11st. each, mile-and-a-half sold for £25.

Farmer's Plate Stake mile-and-a-half heats.

TUESDAY, Oct. 15.—£50 added, two mile heats Farmer's Plate Stakes each, mile-and-a-half heat

For further particulars apply to Mr. JAS. RYALL, Hotel
JOHN POWER, GURNEY
WM. QUIN, LADDON
NICHOLAS MAHER,
EDMOND SCULLY, CLONLEIGH

EQUITY

D'Esterre v. P. c
Smyth & others. } Legat ceased
all persons having charge of mortgaged Lands and Premises mentioned, to come in at the Inn's-Quay, Dublin, on the 1st of November next, and produce otherwise they will be presumed to have been paid.
Dated this 26th Day of September 1844.
For the

STORES

CORN M
A Large Double CORN each 10 Feet high, Kiln 20 Feet square. L feet wide. Its contiguity is most desirable.
THOMAS
That splendid new Store Goodwin, well adapted for Application to PATRICK or to GEORGE DARTNELL Limerick.