

The Earl Egremont is about to sell a rental of £2,500 a-year, with manorial rights, in Malbro' and Chippenham.

DUBLIN, NOVEMBER 6.

Lord Chancellor Plunkett is confined to his house by an attack of gout. A notice was posted in the hall of the Four Courts, that his Lordship would hear all peremptory or pressing motions in bankruptcy at his residence in Stephen's-green, upon the requisite notice being given to the proper officers of the court.

Sir Philip Crampton has arrived from England. The answer to the inquiries respecting the health of the Marquis of Normanby was, that "His Lordship was in a most satisfactory state, and that his perfect recovery might be confidently expected; he was still, however, confined to his bed, and his strength was much reduced from the operations which were performed for his relief.

Miss Catherine Murphy, governess in the house of Mr. Bennett, Richmond-street, was burned to death by her clothes catching fire, on Saturday night.

The young ladies of Trim, (who are they?) have apprised Mr. O'Connell's association, that they will not marry any but Repealers!

A malt-store on Sir John Rogerson's quay, took fire. The origin of the conflagration is not known. Property to a large amount has been consumed, and, unfortunately, not insured.

THE LIMERICK CHRONICLE.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 7.

That active Police officer, Constable Slattery, of the Patrick's-well station, arrested in the County Court-House, yesterday, Thomas Bailey, one of the persons concerned in the attack on the house of Edward John Croker, Esq. at Grange hill (particulars of which appeared in the CHRONICLE.) He was fully identified by Mr. Croker's servant, and is now committed for trial to the County gaol by W. S. Tracy, Esq. S.M. before whom the informations were taken. When Bailey observed the Policeman looking at him closely in the hall of the Courthouse, he ran behind the large van or machine used for the conveyance of prisoners to and from the County prison, from whence he was taken by Slattery, and brought before the Magistrates on the bench.

Richard Mangan, labourer, employed in a timber yard at Bedford-row, while removing a weighty beam with three other men on Wednesday, one of them lost his hold, and the others let go, when the entire weight of the beam fell upon Mangan, fractured his left thigh, and crushed his intestines. The poor sufferer died next day in hospital of the injuries. The Mayor held an inquest, and after returning a verdict of "Accidental Death," recorded their belief that more care and better help was requisite in the timber yards in such cases.

was a Constable Sub-Inspector an escort of the town to Cashel.

Mr. Cheevers, informations against J. attack the Tralee

Francis Percy, in Cork to take ch of the East Riding

A Correspondent acres in the Rath have not been br

Edward Roch Cork, is to be F

John Taylor, E tianal Bank, Cor take management

J. D. Ellard, E from Donegal to just received his

The Magistrate have addressed I gistrate, on his r

Sir Hugh Dill suite, have left I

The death of borough is repor

There was on Lord Plunkett in O'Connell may

Gannon v. Irelan defendant answer the bill with cost

"justice to Irela Radicals and in Carlow. The non's son, has r walk over.

Prince Albert agricultural int

Lord Charlev dinner in Tullar

The Duhallow Kanturk, on M presided. Over

hibited for prize Egmont, preside great applause;

Mr. Blennerh M.P. attended week, when Co equal number,

Murray, the meeting in the the floor gave w

The lecturer fl boys, who pelte