

DEATHS.

At his residence, Rathkeale glebe, in this county, at four o'clock this morning, after a long period of protracted suffering, borne with that Christian patience and resignation to the will of his Heavenly Father, which alone could have supported him under a most afflictive trial, the Venerable Archdeacon Warburton, who for more than forty years was the devoted and exemplary Rector of the Union of Rathkeale. The demise of this talented and zealous Minister, of the Church of Christ has deprived the diocese of Limerick of a clergyman, who, while he filled the important position in which he was placed with uncompromising fidelity to the duties it demanded, by the kindness which he evinced to all classes of his parishioners, and the liberal bounty he dispensed to those in want of pecuniary assistance, has left an impression that never can be effaced upon the minds of those who contemplated him as their devoted Pastor, friend, and liberal benefactor.
