DEATHS.

At Lough Burke, county Clare, at the patriarchal age of 103 years, Charles Lucas, Esq. He departed in the sure hope of a glorious immortality in the blood of his Redeemer.
On Saturday last, in this County, at the residence of her mother, Ballybricken. Miss Catherine Hogan, daughter of the late Edmond Hogan, Esq. of Finniterstown, and niece to the Very Rev. Patrick Hogan, P.P. of St. Michael's Parish, and Vicar General. It may be truly said of this very amiable and indeed interesting young Lady, that it never fell to the duty of a person to record the death of one who better deserved to be remembered. If affectionate love for those with whom she had been more immediately connected, if the kindest regard and the most charitable attention to those whom she had it in her power to serve, be virtues, she possessed them in a remarkable and eminent degree. Let this not be considered as an exaggeration of praise. The writer knew her benevolent attributes well, and records them accordingly.
