 relief it gives is very rapid. The preparation is

DEATH OF MRS. ELIZABETH COHOON, RATHKEALE.

The remains of this old and universally esteemed resident were laid in their last resting place in the Church of Ireland Churchyard, Rathkeale, on Sunday evening last. She belonged to an old and respected family named Lee, in the County Tyrone.

The funeral was large, representatives of all the principal citizens of Rathkeale and surrounding districts being present, testifying to the esteem and regard which is felt for the deceased's son, Mr. J. Cohoon, and the family once they came to reside in this town twenty four years ago. The chief mourner was her only son, Mr. J. Cohoon. Beautiful wreaths were sent by Miss McKernan, Munster and Leinster Bank, Rathkeale, Miss Shire, Court-matrix, and Mrs. Samuel Stark and family, Rathkeale.

Deceased by her genial and sympathetic manner, and charitable disposition, endeared herself to all who had the pleasure of her acquaintance.

Rev. Dr. McClean, who had been most attentive in his Spiritual administrations to deceased since he came to the parish, read the burial service in the Church, and delivered a most eloquent and appropriate address at the graveside.
