SUPERB NEW AMENITIES AT CRUISE'S HOTEL

The new TIFFANY'S BAR in Cruise's Hotel, Limerick

- Cruise's Hotel in Limerick will celebrate its 200th birthday in six years time and there are very few establishments in these islands who can boast of such a long and distinguished record of service and dedication to all who pass through its doors. Cruise's has an enviable reputation for first-class attention to all the little details which make the difference between personal attention and the personal touch.
- Cruise's was one of the many coach stops in Ireland in the days when travel took several days and many changes of horses and overnight stays were the rule rather than the exception.
- But Cruise's does not live in the past.
- Far from it.
- Its Desmond Ballroom was often the scene of the most glittering social occasion in the history of Limerick and in this regard the Press Ball immediately comes to mind. In its early days, it was easily one of the most prestigious events in the South of Ireland and an annual event to be looked forward to and enjoyed to the full.
- It was here, too, that Ireland's premier bandleader, Mick Delahunty, set up a record of fourteen years residency as an attraction every Saturday night, and I know that he is extremely proud of this achievement.
- But Cruise's has moved with the times. With Colm Kenneally at the helm, its accommodation is on a par with the capitals of Europe, and its nightlife amenities have received a massive facelift in recent months.
- Ruby's Basement Niteclub operates seven nights a week—no mean achievement in these recessionary times.
- Latest headliner at this venue is Tiffany's Coffee Lounge which is quite busy every day. At night it is a cosy and intimate piano bar where Manchester-born Oscar Hammond has been lured to preside at the piano, much to the disappointment of his countless admirers in Benidorm in Spain where he will be sadly missed this year.
- Another feature here is the Jazz Session which has brought an entirely new look to the Saturday night scene with Prelude belting out the pulsating sounds of the 30' and 40s in faultless style.

● If you have not been to Cruise's this year, then you will find the changes to bestartlingand welcome as the management have certainly not spared the cash to give patrons the best that money can buy.
● It now has an atmosphere and appeal all its own and a visit will certainly mean visits.
● Congratulations are due to the far-seeing management, the architects, the designers and the craftsmen who have proven once again that when it comes to nitelife Limerick is up there with the capitals of Europe with all the plush comfort and luxury with which life in the 1980s has become associated.
● It's time you headed for Tiffany's and all the other outstanding features which have transformed Cruise's Hotel in O'Connell Street, Limerick.

Congratulations to Tiffany's
