X CLOCK 1957

An old Cross-faced clock made by Blundell of Limerick, a firm that had been in existence for close on two hundred years, was presented to the City Museum through the good offices of Mr. Denis Glynn, P.C. A peculiarity about this old fashioned time-keeper — and one never seen nowadays — was the fact that the face turned around and the hands were stationary. This old clock stood in the hallway of Cruises Hotel.
