B. O'Malley, solicitors.

ADJOURNED CASES

Clement Meehan 4 O'Dwyer's Villas, Thomondgate and John Egan, 42, Cross Road, Thomondgate, two 17 year-old youths, jointly charged with breaking and entering several houses in the Thomondgate area and causing damage to the extent of £21, appeared for the second time in the District Court this morning.

Two weeks ago Justice Gleeson adjourned the cases to allow the defendants to compensate the injured parties.

When the cases were renewed today,

Guard McHugh said that Meehan was never in trouble before. A number of boys were involved with Meehan and the first thing they did was to snatch a bag which had been placed on a lady's bicycle. All the compensation had been paid in the case.

Mr. Tynan said that young Meehan came from very respectable parents and was never in trouble of any kind before.

The defendant was bound over for three years in his father's bond, and was fined a total of £3 on the charges of larceny.

In the adjourned case against Egan, Superintendent P. Colleran said that this defendant was before the Court on a previous occasion.

The defendant's mother said that her husband, who was in England, had sent for her son.

The Justice adjourned this case for one month.

MY LIFE

troduces a group of ex-Army men to acks, Limerick. They have re-joined nt's recruiting drive. Included are rra; Brian Costello, Kileely; William n, Prospect; Patrick Joseph O'Loughjumping team that visited the United States in the '30s, hunted with the Connecticut Hounds, where he made the acquaintance of the members of the present touring party.

On Sunday, the visitors will go out to the Four Elms to see the Oakfield Foot Beagles in action.

RADIO DRAMA

Listeners to Radio Eireann on Wednesday next at 7 p.m. will hear the first broadcast of "Na Cimi" (The Prisoners) by the young Limerick writer, Criostoir O Floinn, who is attached to the teaching staff at C.B.S., Sexton Street. This stirring drama should prove of great interest to Irish listeners, as it has for its theme the death of an Irish priest in the Korean War.

Limerick Street Names In Irish Only

At the February monthly meeting of Limerick Chamber of Commerce on Monday, Mr. L. de Courcy, M.I.A.A., Vice-President, in the chair, several members requested that representations should be made to the Limerick Corporation to have the name plates on the various city streets inscribed in the English, as well as the Irish, language.

The erection of these plates (says a supplied report) had been carried out in recent months, and it was felt that the fact of their bearing creased cost of living had put forward as a cause crease demanded.

The Court was not sat the present rates of pay o cinema workers were unc relation to the wages t receive in comparable e in the city.

Having given the rates Dublin, Cork and Limeri port proceeded to say tha run houses in Limerick reasonably compared wit B. houses in Dublin an wages paid in Limerick general, much the sam paid in Dublin for Class though in some cases higher and in others Cork some rates were some lower when comp Limerick.

THE 1949 INCRE

The Court rejected the put forward by the I.T. that the increase give when the Limerick cinen for Sunday performanc

Charge C Stealing Ring

IN the City District morning, Thomas Ma (20), 7, Oliver Plunket S appeared before Just Gleeson, charged with in November last of a la ment ring, valued £23, t of Mrs. O'Driscoll, Shelb

Supt. P. Colleran pros Mr. Dermot O'Donova appeared for the defend Guard McHugh, in said that the defendan ployed by Sean Gleesc tor, in November last time the defendant w on the Shelbourne Roa a young boy ran ou O'Driscoll's house and defendant to come int to turn off a water bathroom. The defenc the house and after tu tap, entered Mrs. O'D room, where he stol from a purse in her w defendant, continued Hugh, made no attemp of the ring.

Mr. O'Donovan—At didn't know the ring w —No.

He made no attemp of it?—No.

Defendant told the he intended returning t he had discovered valuable, but added tha get a chance of doing s

Justice—Why didn't ring into an envelope