TOWN TOPICS FAR & NEAR LIMERICK LEADER. FRIDAY EVENING, MARCH 10. NOTES AND NEWS

THE IRISH AT HOME AND ABROAD THE so-called Irish Race Convention in New The Picture Houses York has proved a complete fiveco. Its failure affords yet another proof that those of our kith and kin beyond the seas who really count are at one with the people at home in Ireland endorsing the policy and attitude and leadership of Mr Renmond. Seeing that it was organised by pro-German intriguers for the purpose of having a clap at the Irish Party and aiming a blow at the constitutional movement its co lapse is a most significant commentary on the ridiculous contention that Irish Nationalists have grown cold in their allegiance to the principles through which this country has gained so many solld advantages. The resul of the recent contest in North Louth shows that not only that constituency bu all Ireland has got completely slo of faction and of the "fantastic tricks" of the super-patriots. Recent events in the United States show that the Irish in that "land of the free and home of the brave share to the full the views of the overwhelming majority of those at home, In the remarkable and interesting letter declining an invitation to the bogue and abortive Convention in New York the Mon MICHAEL DONOROE, former Congressman from Philadelphia, has some very pertinent things to say as to the question of the policy for Ireland. "I believe such a Convention at this time," he says, " to be unwarranted ill-advised and dangerous. I believe it unwarranted because the people of Ireland alone have the right to declars their policy in the present erisis. You may say that here is the ! Greater Ireland beyond the seas, but saying so does not make it so. To my mind Old Ireland is still Greater Ireland, and my observations convince me that one man who remains on Crimean Veteran's Death more to the cause of 'Ireland a Nation' than one hundred who have permanently left it." It is of interest in this connection to recall that in an address to an Irish National Convention in Chicago as far back as 1886 Mr REDMOND declared with emphasis that the only condition on which Ireland would accept help for the National movement from the Irish abroad was that the people at home should have the ex clusive right of deciding the policy to be pur sued. But the Irish-American pro-Germans of to-day altogether trample on the basic prinof to-day altogether trample on the basic prin- done to score even a greater success than the ciple of Home Rule seeing that they deny the recent reunion held in St Ita's Hall undoubt-Irish people the right to manage their own affairs as they think fit. There the Atlantic to-day, as at this, many men who think themselves much better qualified to decide and conduct Ireland's policy country's cause and whose honesty and unselfishness of purpose, sincere patriotism and for their country and won for themselves an and if it were departed from at this critical is at present at the wheel, the results for our country would be disastrous. "But," says Ireland, an important new Irish journal published in New York, "If every Irishman were to put into practice the theory that he is as well qualified to manage any great affair as the man charged with its care, what would become of Irish leadership ! And what would did become of the one and of the other. What else?" These are wise words and we com

CUTTING OF HEDGES

Reply to "Shelter" VIEWS OF A "ROAD HOG TO THE EDITOR OF THE LIMERICK LEADER.

DEAR SIR-Your correspondent "Shelter" is apparently belonging to the "Stone Age. No "ordinary" man in this twentieth century would condemn the cutting down of offensive, would condemn the cutting down of orensive, unsightly hedges along the highways. These hedges are dangerous to pedestrians, as at any time one may have his eye squatched out with a projecting branch. Accidents continually occur where the hedges are so high and thick as to obstruct the view of motor drivers at bends on the roads. I would advise "Shelter" A large and representative meeting was held in the Village Hall, Adare, on Sunday last to make arrangements for this year's St Patrick's that if he wishes to walk in the "rustic shade to bring his umbrells and hang a few haw-thern bushes around it. It would be well to remind your sentimental correspondent that this is not the age for resting one's "weary limbs beneath the shady bowers" of dusty, unsightly, and dangerous roadside hedges.

Mr. William Walsh, Souretary, read the notice convening the preeting.

The report, already published, was taken as read.

The Chairman said that during the year ended Sist January they had again done very well, their turnover being the best for years. It was the 22nd year in succession that they were paying 9 per cent dividend free income tax. Their dividend was now reality £10 7s per cent; as the rate of income tor wently. The available belence at our digposal, the chairman went on, is the largest in the history of the company. After paying the dividend, and adding $1,000 to reserve account. we have £13,133 to carry forward. Our fixed assets, premises, plant, etc. now stand at 240,000, which is a great deal less than half what they cost us in the beginning, and we do not intend to make any further r the amount. Our stocks and debts were never increase, as we purchased that amount of is percent War Stock last June. Our liquid assets are only £2,197 for balances of undrawn salarles. As you are aware our shares are now 24 ear fully paid, the call of £1 which there was on each of them having been especified. This makes them more valuable from an investment point of view, though not in any way affecting the dividend, and as there are neither Debe tures, Preference Shares, nor Trade Creditors. our ordinary shares are, we think, entitled to a the A O II to hold a concert on Sunday night, | place in the front rank of first-class commer-April 30th. The Proceedings

The proceedings were most barmonious. The Chairman in his opening address referred to the loss of the All-Ireland Championships by the Munster teams, which, he said, was more serious than even a decrease in the finances of the Council. He dealt with the general busi-ness transacted during the year and referred to the monetary loss sustained in the carrying out of the Wolfe Tone Memorial Tournament. Mr Dan Fraher said the world's records made by John O'Grady, Caherconlish, more than compensated for any losses. A proposition was made by Mr Jim Ryan that £18 be paid out of the funds towards the Wolfe Tone Memorial, but it was adjourned to the next meeting.

The Championships The following draws and fixtures were made
