Ennis, Friday Evening.

ENNIS FEET SESSTONS.

On this day the usual weekly court was held. The magistrates present were—P M Cullinan, MD, and Thomas Greene, Esqrs.

A gasfitter named M'Namara, in the employment of the Ennis Gas Company, was summoned by another gasfitter of the town, named Byrne, for an assault.

It appeared by the evidence that the defendant knocked the plaintiff down in consequence of his having been irritated by the alleged use of opprobrious language on the part of Byrne.

After Mr Muirhead, the gas manager, had been examined relative to the nature of the assault, which had been committed in his presence, M'Namara was fined 2s 6d and costs, and both parties were bound over to the peace.

THE ENNIS AND ATHENRY RAILWAY.

On yesterday the Waterford directors and those of the Athenry line again proceeded from Ennis to Athenry and back, with a view to arrangements for the opening of the line. On last evening the special train again returned, but it is alleged that no final conclusion has been arrived at, and the line will not be opened for traffic as soon as had been anticipated.

THE LATE MELANCHOLY CASE OF DROWNING.

On yesterday evening, at five o'clock, an inquest was held on the body of the young gentleman, Master Cummins, about seventeen years old, who had been accidentally drowned on Wednesday. After evidence had been heard relative to the circumstances already mentioned, the following verdict was arrived at by the jury empanelled by Mr John Cullinan, coroner, who had considerably delayed the inquest for the arrival of the friends of the deceased:—"We find that deceased was accidentally drowned while bathing in the River Fergus, near Clonroad bridge, in the town of Ennis, on Wednesday, the 18th day of August, 1869, and beg to tender our heartfelt sympathy to his afflicted parents on their very sad bereavement; and that no blame whatsoever can be attributed to the Head Master, Rev Mr Barnes, as on enquiry we find that he has never given a pupil liberty to bathe, but on the contrary has given directions to the pupils not to bathe."

The mother of the deceased arrived here this morning by train, and it is ascertained that she resides near Elphin, in the county Roscommon. The exertions of Constable Birmingham, and the humanity exhibited by him throughout the entire of this melancholy affair, has been most meritorious. The Rev Mr Barnes labours under deep affliction in consequence of so awful a calamity having occurred in his establishment. It appears that no liberty had been given for bathing, but the boys left the College for that purpose under pretence of going to town to make some necessary purchases.

At Nenagh assizes, Aug. 19, Mr Gibson made an application on behalf of Mr Peter E Gill, who had been arrested in the hall of the court that day, on foot of an execution for costs incurred in the probate case of M'Evilly v Gill, that he be discharged from custody, on the ground that the arrest was a contempt of court, inasmuch as the arrest was made within the precincts of the court, and while Mr Gill was about to pursue his duties as a reporter for his journal, the Tipperary Advocate. The Sub-Sheriff (Gerald Fitzgerald, Esq.) explained the mode of arrest and other circumstances connected with it, and said that personally he would be sorry to have Mr Gill placed in such a position, but that he should do so. The Chief Baron stated, in a lengthened judgment on the application, that he was not, in the absence of authority, about to establish a precedent, and accordingly felt compelled to refuse the application. Mr Gill therefore remains in custody.

The election for Tipperary cannot take place till the reassembling of Parliament, but several candidates for the vacant seat are already mentioned, and one of them is Mr. B. Osborne.

The result of the Antrim election will not affect the balance of parties, inasmuch as the late member, Admiral H. Seymour, was a Conservative.

Captain Seymour, the Conservative candidate for the representation of the county of Antrim, has been returned by a very large majority over Sir Shafto Adair, the Liberal.

The town of Detroit, in Michigan, has been completely destroyed by a hurricane.

Guards, presided. Assistant-Surgeon Fitzgerald, 56th Regiment, is in medical charge of the troops stationed at Ballymena in aid of the civil power. The First Lord of the Admiralty, accompanied by Vice-Admiral Sir Sydney Dacres, Captain F Beauchamp Seymour, and Captain G. O. Willes, leave Whitehall early on Monday morning for Plymouth, and will embark on board the Agincourt, which will proceed under steam to join the combined Mediterranean and Channel squadrons that are ordered to assemble at Gibraltar. The Sirius, 6, unarmoured wood-built screw sloop, Capt David Miller, sailed from Spithead on Tuesday evening for the westward and foreign service.

The Bank of England rate has been reduced to 2 1/2 per cent. this day.

A new religion has sprung up in Russia, which preaches self-destruction by fire as the only sure road to salvation. In one village no less than 1,700 persons assembled in some wooden houses, to which they set fire, perishing in the flames.
