The orstorical portion t concluded on Thursday evening, Henry James and Mr T. P. und up the demonstrations. Mr home in the sunny South, by which he suc mediate denial of the uncraciou stone has not heard the last o eally ruffled this time, and probably his will eel he has gone too far. Both parties in the ruggle expect victory, but such is the orions uncertainty of bye-elections that a ecast is of no value whatever. Mr Maden he Gladstonian candidate, has for some days sequently his supporters have ces, but his friends have done their utmos r him during his compulsory absence. The uily News thinks that if the Liberal voters as the constituency is Liberal, and the vative element insignificant, they mean at the constituency in 1892 will reverse the claration of 1886. The Unionists confess to thaving a doubt of the result, and are conlent of returning Sir Thomas Brooks.
