

BEYFEALE

AND WESTERN MODERN BAND

(f27c)

NEWPORT

College Showband

(f27p)

CARNIVAL

12

AMUSEMENTS ★

DELPH STALL — ETC., ETC.

OF WORK — Saturday, July 4.

BALL TOURNAMENT

R TOURNAMENT

THE: Ahane v. Croagh—Friday, July 10, 8 p.m.

D VARIETY CONCERT — Tuesday, July 7:
 of Comhaltas Ceoltoiri Eireann Group in "THE ICAN WAKE." Remember them on Radio and
 A feast of Traditional Song and Dance!

ER RACING

DRESS AND BABY SHOW — Sunday, July 5,
 m. Details later.

(f27c)

SCENE '70

By Earl Connolly

ROY ORBISON RETURNS TO LIMERICK

ROY ORBISON is possibly the most unusual phenomenon ever encountered in music. He has only rarely been seen on network television. He has no press agent hawking his name and his songs in the pages of the fan magazine and the music business magazine.

Yet this man's records have sold well into eight figures.

It is not Roy Orbison's flashy clothes that sell his records; it's not the way he combs his hair, or the headlines he makes or the legends that promotion men weave about artists that sell his records; it is his music that sells his records.

He happens to possess a gigantic vocal range. He happens to be able to sing in a thundering baritone one moment, a sensitive tenor the next. His voice is liquid one moment, dry and arid the next. His sound is always blessed with a rich consistent tremolo.

He happens, also, to be a first-class song composer. His melodic lines ramble across the usual limitations of a popular song.

His chords are striking. His words are poetic.

Roy Orbison is living proof that the young American and the young European will go out—silently and deliberately—and buy the music of an artist, who, stripped of the usual gimmickry and glitter, has only his native talent to sell.

Roy Orbison returns to Ireland on Friday, June 26, for a 10-day tour. The tour is being organised by Aiken Promotions. On his Irish tour Roy will be backed by a 10-piece band, "The Art Movement."

He comes to the Savoy Cinema, Limerick, on Tuesday, 30, for one performance only which will commence at 11 o'clock p.m.

THE supporting company will include such headliners as The Pattersons, Karen Young, The Recordites and The Californian Brakemen—a really star-studded show which should pack the Savoy.

Advance booking facilities are now available with tickets on sale at 20/-, 15/-, 12/6 and 10/-.