

OUND LIMERICK"

TO-MORROW NIGHT at the Royal George Hotel, Bud Clancy will once again be on the band stand. The proceeds of the dance will go to aid the Widows' and Orphans' Fund of the National Union of Journalists. Looking forward to seeing you all there.

SORRY TO see Noel Casey, bass guitarist, has quit the Reform Band . . . By the way, the Reform will be playing at the An Oige dance to be held in the Royal George Hotel on Tuesday night next.

SORRY TO see Joe O'Neill on crutches.

TALKING ABOUT mishaps, did you hear what happened to Liam Foley of the Donie Collins Showband? He had a very narrow escape from serious injury on Monday morning last when he was walking down O'Connell St. in Limerick. His wallet fell from his pocket on to his foot. Poor man, Liam!

PAT EGAN of Spotlight Magazine has been voted Dublin's No. 1 D.J. And he really deserves it.

GRANNIE'S INTENTIONS should draw a very big crowd to the Franciscan Hall to-night. They are doing a short tour of Ireland.

Bud Clancy and his band will be playing at the dance in the Royal George Hotel on Sunday night next. The dance is in aid of the Widows and Orphans' Fund of the N.U.J. and the proceeds of this dance will go to a very worthy cause.

Maisie and Gregory cut a disc

FEW POP stars would leave showbusiness for four years and try to come back. But Maisie McDaniel, the girl from Sligo, a massive hit on disc, television and in the ballrooms, is back on her own two feet again with her partner, Gregory. Now Gregory and Maisie have released a new single. The name of the record is "Okie From Muskogee.."

The disc released two weeks and such a charmer that I
