MR. Joyce is a Co. Limerick man who works as a Local Government Officer in Limerick city. He writes in Irish and English — has been contributing a weekly article in English to a local paper since the end of 1944; contributed a weekly article in Irish to same paper for five years; articles of his have been published in various Irish papers and periodicals; he has also done some writing for radio.

His first book, due to be published shortly, is in Irish, a biography of a figure who made quite an impact on very recent Irish history, and about whom there has been no little controversy. Mr. Joyce likes travelling, about which he writes and lectures. He has visited thirteen countries, including Russia and Morocco. He teaches Irish classes two nights weekly during winter, acts as treasurer of Carrigaholt Irish College and is on committee of management of Aras Íde, Foynes.
