RATHKEALE RACES.

The above fixture is coming off on Monday next. Judging by the large number of entries received from the principal training quarters, it bids fair to outrival all previous gatherings. The going is in excellent order. A new and commodious stand has just been finally completed under the supervision of Mr. F. C. Hartigan, B.E. During the past few days the Inspector of the Turf Club visited the course, and expressed himself highly pleased at the construction of the fences and general improvements. At present the old Commons course looks at its best, while the fragrance of the surrounding hedgerows, and the stately foliage of the pine trees in Beechnount demesne close by, adds a gay charm to the entire scene.
