

Handicapped advised to seek free education

THE Union of Parents and Teachers Association today advised parents of mentally handicapped children who do not have free primary education to immediately contact the Minister for Education to arrange for a free education.

The chairman of the association, Mrs. J. J. O'Connell, said that the department who ruled that the constitutional obligations of the state was to provide free primary education to the mentally handicapped.

"We now advise parents who may not have a service, to immediately contact the Minister for Education. Parents who have any problems may contact telephone 641-2444 or 647-6127," said
