

..., SATURDAY, AUGUST 3, 1974

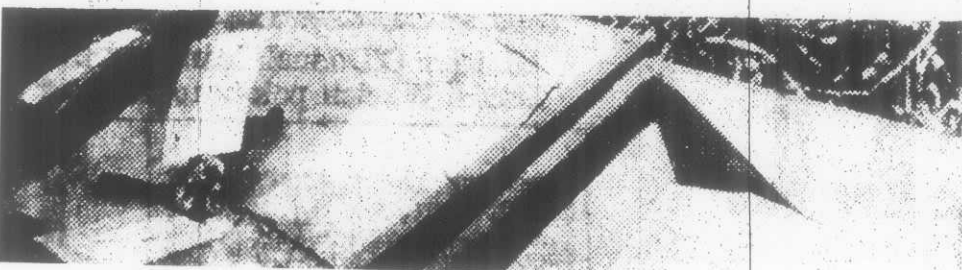

AT THIS Friday night's opening of Newcastle West's Ten Knights of Desmond Festival, Mr. Edward Dwyer, M.C.C., and his festival committee will give a civic reception to Newcastle West-born poet, Michael Hartnett (above), the leading guest personality at the festival's historical evening.

"Michael Hartnett, who will be giving a recital of his West Limerick poems, has achieved an international reputation—the British Council and Radio Eireann have recorded his works and recently a Swedish literary newspaper devoted an illustrated feature to our local poet—and we think he deserves the honour of being the first Irish poet to be given a civic reception in his home town," said Councillor Dwyer, chairman of the festival committee.

Michael Hartnett said: "I'm delighted. As far as I know, this is the first time an Irish poet has been accorded such an honour." His English wife, Rosemary, is coming specially from the Mayo Gaeltacht, where she is learning Irish, to be present at Newcastle West.
