MR. FEAR OF EXETER TELLS HOW MOTHER SEIGEL'S SYRUP CURED HIS INDIGESTION.

About twelve years ago Mr. Thomas E. Fear, of 7 Godrington Street, Newtown, Exeter, was very ill of acute indigestion, attended with all the usual symptoms and torturing pains. He looks well enough now, leaving out of sight the fact that he is somewhere between 50 and 60 years old, and one would scarcely suppose that he had ever been so dreadfully afflicted. Mr. Fear is an agent for the sale of sewing machines, and is very well known in Exeter and round about.

In a letter addressed, on February 2nd, this year, to the proprietors of Mother Seigel's remedies, he says:—"I have great pleasure in testifying to the value of Mother Seigel's Syrup. For many years I suffered from acute indigestion in a very acute degree, and though I tried numerous so-called remedies none of them relieved me. The illness began with loss of appetite, and a general run-down feeling, which grew worse as time passed. Food caused me pain at the stomach, and I often felt bilious and dizzy. By and by whatever I ate brought on a sick feeling, and this at last ended in my throwing up, regularly, every morsel of my food. I lost flesh fast, in consequence, and was so weak at times that I could hardly drag about. Wind in my stomach distressed me, and gave rise to a choking sensation. Frequently I had to run out of doors to get air. I slept badly, and would often wake up in the night, and lie awake, fearing to sleep again, lest the choking feeling should come on. People used to say I was lying on my feet, and I also thought so myself.

"However, when things were at their worst. I began taking Mother Seigel's Syrup, and from that day I improved. The illness gradually left me and my appetite returned. I continued taking the Syrup for a time, and finally found myself completely cured. I have never had a day's indigestion since, and can eat anything now without fear. Indeed, I never felt better in my life, and this I know is entirely due to Mother Seigel's Syrup.

SINGULAR DEATH OF A CHILD.

The three year old daughter of John Gillespie, pit sinker of Worksop, has been drowned under singular circumstances. The father, while fishing in the river Pyton, noticed his little daughter disappear in some bushes. The child had slipped into a large drain and was carried by the current into an eighteen inch drain pipe where she became fast in the centre. The father secured a spade and having dug the earth from the pipe, smashed it open with a hammer, but when the body was recovered life was extinct. At the inquest yesterday a verdict of accidentally drowned was returned.
