Glentworth Hotel opens

The Glentworth will be opened as a first-class family and commercial hotel on Monday, the 16th December.

This hotel has been prepared with great care and at considerable expense for the accommodation of country gentlemen and their families visiting Limerick on special days.

The commercial room has been fitted with every requisite for ease and comfort.

The ladies' coffee room is a perfect gem in its arrangements and appointments.

The gentlemen's coffee room will stand comparison with any of the kind in Ireland.

The Glentworth, in short, claims the support of the general public for the superiority of its accommodation in every department, including sitting-room, bedrooms, bathrooms (hot and cold water), etc., etc.

The wines and liquors have been selected with a single care to the requirements of a first-class trade.

P. Kenna, proprietor, 15 and 16 Glentworth Street, Limerick. —Dec. 14.

The weather

The coldness of the weather has increased in intensity, and is certainly the severest which has been experienced for many a year. The streets are like a sheet of glass and so slippery that many accidents have occurred.

A gentleman came into town from Ballyclough yesterday on skates—a fact which gives a good idea of the condition of the roads.

The shopkeepers complain of the effects of the frost upon trade. Establishments that, at this time in former years, were filled with purchasers are now completely empty owing to the inability of people to do their outing as usual.

Another fact testifies to the bitterness of the season—that is the dying of hundreds of birds throughout the country. —Dec. 17.

The poor

The poor of Cratloe will not be without their Christmas dinner. Their benevolent parish priest, Rev. H. O'Farrell, has caused a two-year-old bullock to be slaughtered for their use. In these hard times we trust his example will find many imitators. —Dec. 21.

Died

On the 10th inst., at Ballyneety Cottage, Co. Limerick, Peter Murray, Esq., aged 72 years, regretted by all who knew him. —Dec 21.
