The Mayor held a Court to-day to hear claims for admission as Freeman. Mr. Thomas O'Connell, superintendent water department, Mr. James O'Halloran, foreman of the "Chronicle," and Mr Robert Gubbins, carpenter, the three applicants were admitted.

The High Court in the case of Westropp v. the Clare County Council, as to the liability for the repair of a road at Scariff, has given Mr. Westropp the verdict and 1s damages. The Council is to pay all the costs, because in the opinion of the judges, by their neglect of duty they caused the litigation.

Mr. Horan, Inspector of the Star Life Assurance Society at Tipperary, has succeeded in winning first prize, a gold watch, in the competition started by the Irish Management, for the largest business done in February and March by any agent in Ireland. This is not the first time Mr. Horan has headed a list of competitors from all Ireland.

The Corporation had several cases under the Public Health Act at the City Petty Sessions yesterday for the limewashing and other improvement of tenements. Orders were made to have the work done within a specified time, and in some cases, as applied for, an order was granted for the closing of certain premises, as they were unfit for human habitation.

GERMANY AND FRANCE.

Startling Report.

(By Telegraph To-day.)

The St. Petersburg correspondent of the "Echo de Paris" says that he learns from a Russian diplomatist that Germany is determined to pick a quarrel with France, and the Emperor has declared the moment favourable.

FASHIONABLE.

The Earl of Dunraven, Lady Aileen Wyndham Quin, Mrs. Blennerhassett, Miss Blennerhassett, and Captain Basil Roche-Kelly were of a party that travelled by motors yesterday from Adare Manor to Glin Castle, a distance of 24 miles, returning at 5.30 p.m. As the day was beautifully fine, the drive, which for a considerable distance, was along the bank of the Shannon, must have been a most enjoyable one.

Mr. William L. Hunt, that best of landlords and most considerate of agents, has just gone out of the occupation of Fort Shannon, near Glin, his summer residence for years past, and will spend the season at Ballyneale, near Kildysart, with Mr. Henry and Lady Ernestine Hunt. The greatest regret was evinced by the people of Glin on Mr. Hunt's departure from amongst them.

On Thursday, at the pretty little church of Gemmonsfield (Kilsheelan), Co. Tipperary, Mr. J. F. Croone was married to Miss Mary (Mona) White, only daughter of Dr. White.

FUNERAL OF MRS. JOURNEAUX.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Journeaux, whose demise we recorded in our last issue, took place this morning from 10 Eden Terrace for the Friends' Burial Ground, Ballinacurra. The funeral was private, and the attendance was consequently confined to the immediate relatives and a few friends of the family.

SANITATION IN THE DOCK WARD.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE LIMERICK CHRONICLE.

DEAR SIR,—As one of the members representing the Dock Ward in the Borough Council, I think it my duty to call the attention of the readers of your valuable journal and the public to the sanitary condition of portion of this Ward.

A short time ago I visited the houses in Vize's Fields to see how they stood as regards w.c.'s and sewerage, and to my surprise I found that there were eighty inhabited houses, all within a radius of about three hundred yards (50 in Vize's Fields, and 30 in School House Lane and Little Barrington Street, immediately behind St. Joseph's New Church), completely devoid of sanitary accommodation or sewerage, notwithstanding that one of the best main sewers in the city passes through the locality. Seven new cottages have been recently built in this area, and are provided with all the necessary sanitary arrangements, and connected with the main sewer.

I then took in the Windmill district, and found there only one w.c. connected with the main sewer, out of about fifty houses, seven being without yards. There is a very fine main sewer running through the Dock road at one end, and Henry-street at the other end of this area.

I would like to know very much where the sanitary officer comes in as regards his inspection of these two areas, or have they been ever reported to the sanitary authorities?—although they evidently do their duty well in other wards, going even to the extent of examining the roofs, and if they find any slates off, serve a summons on the owner.

G. Teskey, Kileen; J. Latchford, treasurer; J. Sparling, J. Sparling, B. Sparling, Mr. Mrs. Mount Brown; Mr. J. Ward, Mr. Cusack, Mr. Stark, Mr. Millar, several of the R. clergy and many others, while contingents came in from the surrounding districts, making the funeral cortege one of the largest ever seen in the town.

The Bishop of Limerick and some of the clergy attending the General Synod regretted much that they will be unable to attend the funeral of the late lamented Canon Wills, being detained by important business.

General Lloyd sent a sympathetic letter of regret that he was unable to attend, as did also the Rev. G. L. Swain and Rev. C. V. Atkins.

GARRYOWEN II.

Concert at the Theatre.

A concert was held at the Theatre Royal last evening in aid of Mrs. Wm. Lloyd's Stall at the coming Garryowen II Fete. The audience was not as large as might have been expected, considering the excellent object in view, and the choice programme submitted.

The entertainment opened with an excellent piece by Sarakowski, entitled "Polish Dance," which was followed by a pretty ballad, "The Miller's Wooing," and Pinsuti's popular song, "Bedouin's Love Song," by Mr. J. O'Keefe. Mr. Noonan, Kilmallock, sang "Twas Never for 'Rory Darling,'" and "Dreams of My Own Land" with feeling, and was succeeded by Mr. M. Hanrahan, whose violin solo "Marian" (Papini), was very much appreciated. A quartette "Over the Dark Blue Waves" was taking item, as was the solo of Mr. A. V. Trousdell "The King of the Main" (Godby). Mr. Trousdell also sang Gounod's "Nana" to an organ accompaniment (Mr. H. Begas). Other soloists were Miss T. Halpin who gave a fine rendering of "When in the Twilight" and Mr. J. Tompkins, whose singing of "Minn" was a very pleasing item. "La Voix de l'Orgue" furnished an instrumental duet, organ and piano for Messrs H. Begas and Jos. Peman Baker. The choruses and concerted pieces were admirably given, and on the whole the concert was a great musical success, and reflected much credit on its organisers, Mr. J. P. Bellina, and Mr. H. Begas, who played the accompaniment.

BURSTING OF A STEAM PIPE.

Several Injured.

(By Telegraph To-day.)

A steam pipe burst to-day at Prince Collery, Pontadawe, Glamorgan, and the manager and four men were severely scalded about the arms and legs.

FOUND DROWNED.

Yesterday about midday two fishermen named Costello and McInerney found the body of a man in Ballinacurra Creek. The Thomondgate police were communicated with, and Sergeant Keating had the remains conveyed to the morgue, pending an inquest. The body which was that of a man of about 40 years of age was found fully dressed. He wore a pair of old brown boots but no stockings. On the shirt were the figures 7096, the inscription being that the deceased was a soldier. It is thought that the case may have some connection with the finding of a pair of boots and stockings near Corbally mill stream eight days ago, and also a piece of paper bearing words to the effect that the writer was tired of soldiering, and that his body would be found near by. The fact, however, of boots having been found on the body discovered yesterday does not quite coincide with the theory, and in addition, no soldier has been reported missing from this district.

REMAINS IDENTIFIED.

Mr. Coroner Clery, Hospital, held an inquest at the County Courthouse this evening on the remains, which have been identified as those of Thady Guiney, of Glogog, Toumfulla, who had been discharged from the Royal Munster Fusiliers Depot, Tralee, on the 28th and was seen in the city on Saturday. A verdict of death from drowning was returned.

FISHING AT CASTLECONNELL.

During the past week the water has risen, but not so much as to interfere with the fishing. On Doonass, Mr. G. C. Williams killed three salmon, 12, 34, 26 lbs. On Hermitage, Lord Massy killed two salmon, 15, 17 lbs. On the Worldsend, Mr. G. W. Greenhill, killed one salmon 28 lbs. On the Castle fishery, Mr. J. H.
