WM. T. MONSELL, Esq; in the Chair.

To Lieutenant General Sir JAMES DUFF, &c.

These our Sentiments, have been anticipated in language so forcible and expressive, by the Citizens of Limerick, at their late Meeting, that it only remains for us to say, We most cordially unite with them in paying you that Tribute of esteem and applause, to which, as a Soldier and a Gentleman, we feel you to be so justly entitled, and our strong sense of which, neither distance can efface, nor time obliterate.

2 Answer of Sir James Duff.

My Lords and Gentlemen,

To your aid and co-operation, I have been principally indebted for that success in preserving the Publick Tranquillity, which you are pleased to attribute to my exertions.

With such cordial assistance my efforts could not be ineffectual; and the extraordinary Powers, which, on your suggestion, Lord Cornwallis entrusted to me for that purpose, were exercised in conjunction with you, and in a great degree, under your direction.—That you should think they have been successful and discreetly exercised, is to me a subject of the most flattering recollection.—Be assured, therefore, of the high sense I entertain of your partiality and kindness to me, during the period of my Command, and which you thus feelingly express, shall remain indelibly impressed on my Mind.

I have the Honor to be,
Your faithful and obliged, &c.

JAMES DUFF, Lieut.-General.

To Lieutenant-General SIR JAMES DUFF, &c.
SIR,

Impressed with the highest degree of regard for you, whilst in our District, and the deepest regret at your departure; We beg leave to return you our most unfeigned Thanks, for your moderate, spirited, and co-operative Conduct at all times, when we had occasion to call on you; but as it is deemed, by the present system of Military affairs, that your stay amongst us should not be longer necessary, we most heartily wish you, in whatever situation you may be placed, Happiness to the utmost extent,—as we are, Sir,

Most truly and sincerely yours,

WILLIAM MASSY,

*Captain W. L. C. Cavalry,
For Self and Corps.*

I have the Honor to remain,
Gentlemen,

Your obliged humble Servant,
JAMES DUFF, Lieutenant-General.
