

Death of Mr J Collins, Ballylongford

The death took place recently of Mr J Collins, P O, Ballylongford, Kerry.

Deceased was known all over Kerry and Limerick as an extensive farmer and cattle dealer and proprietor of the Collins Creameries. During the Anglo-Irish war his business premises and creameries were destroyed by the Black and Tans. His death is deeply regretted by a host of friends.

His funeral to Lislaughtin Abbey was large and representative of the leading gentry, landed, business and sporting men of Kerry and Limerick.