

for their efforts and for their achievement. And if we now suffer from a shortage of some important foods, this is to be attributed, not to the absence of good-will or civic virtue, but mainly to the unprecedented harvest conditions of last year.

MENACE OF UNOFFICIAL STRIKE.

All over the world there is industrial unrest, at a time when the urgent needs of many millions clamour for redoubled production. It is no part of my duty to speak of the merits or demerits of these distant disputes, but I feel bound to refer, with regret and apprehension, to the menace in our own midst of the unofficial strike. If this anti-social evil is not speedily eliminated, there will be an end to the power and authority of Trade Unions, and to that sense of confidence and security which is vital for the conduct of business and industry.

"I beseech you that you walk worthy of the vocation in which you are called; with all humility and mildness, with patience, supporting one another in charity; careful to keep the unity of the Spirit in the bond of peace" (Ephes., IV, 1-3).

✠ PATRICK,
Bishop of Limerick.

GUE DEATH OF ROAD STEWARD

The death took place on last Monday morning of Mr. William Gleeson, road steward, at his residence at Cork Road, Newport. Deceased was in charge of the County Council workers in the Newport area for a good number of years. He took a prominent part in the fight against the British forces and his home at Newport was constantly raided during the troubled period. He was well acquainted with all the well-known I.R.A. leaders.

PRESENTATION

Mr. John Keogh, Buttermaker, Milford "Co-op." Creamery, and a native of Dromcollogher, who retired recently under the age limit, was made a presentation by the creamery staff. His many friends (writes our Tullylease correspondent) wish him many years of health and prosperity to enjoy his well-earned rest.

within one month.

FINE OLD FIGURE PASSES AWAY

The death of Mr. James Malone, of Maghera, Croom, which took place at his residence some days ago, removes from the parish and community a fine personality, a most estimable gentleman and a figure of heroic mould (writes our Croom correspondent). Born into the immediate aftermath of the famine, he was 93 years at his death. He lived through the most stirring periods of the country's efforts at resurgence and final victory. He was during his whole life associated with the movement for national independence, and his passing marks in a peculiar manner the severance of one of the final links that bound the country of today with that of a century ago. In his prime he was a noted athlete who could not be induced to court fame by entering into competitions outside the local sports organised at a moment's notice when men foregathered at the cross-roads or hurling field, and his reputation as a jumper survives in the district. Quiet, gentle, unassuming, he was most popular at fair and gathering, and up to a short time ago, his fine figure, but slightly bowed with the weight of years, was well known among the people. He walked to Sunday Mass, a distance of nearly two miles, with the virility and sprightliness of a man thirty, until about two years ago, and almost to the end could read his "Limerick Leader" without glasses. The obvious in the numbers who attended his funeral from St. Mary's Church, Croom, to the family burial ground of Killeenoughty. To his family, sincere sympathy is offered on the death of the doyen of Croom residents.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE

Without Calomel — and you'll jump out of bed in the morning full of vim and vigour

The liver should pour out two pints of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just

Irish' are Irish' du
Times th
When did
fault to b
cheeky an Cockney
that we
speed un
brighten
the preser
everything
part in "
this coun
voluntarily
average o
and train
understood
no special
and are ju
of ordinar
that they
ably well
self a trib
enlightenn
among t
people.

It is qu
that there
a hesitat
which is n
that most speaking i
phone fo
Against
slowness,
many inst
brilliant a
listeners
memorable
answer g
Eireann
from St. M
gave rise t
the Britis
mons. It
when the t
Mr. Chur
many sta
conflict.
asked wh
greatest