then break them up. Cook them for five minutes in a frying-pan with a piece of any kind of fat, stirring frequently. Reconstitute the eggs, using a little less water than usual, and pour into the pan, adding salt and pepper to taste.
Stir over the heat until eggs are lightly set, then remove from the heat and serve at once, on toast.

HURLERS FORM GUARD OF HONOUR

The funeral of one of the best hurlers Limerick ever produced took place at Kilfinane, Co. Limerick, when John Finn was buried in the local cemetery. He played full-back for Kilfinane team when they won the All-Ireland Hurling and Cork Cup in 1897. Kilfinane hurlers formed a guard of honour, and with hurleys marched in the funeral procession.
