

accidental death, and board and lodgings he knew that if he dependency on his would be entitled but he had no

Anthony, a married man, corroborated and he did not dis-ability, nor the be established by said he found the applicant on ers. He was satisfiely had, for three accidental death, n the respondent hat, in the case of the amount of able to the appli-£300. He further case was one of y, but, having re- of the old lady and s brought to his uld be inclined to ndency on her de-considerable. Ac-cepted the submis- hon, and awarded should be paid to the aunt towards the upkeep of the children. He made no order as to the balance of the amount lodged in Court, but allowed the costs of the present proceedings.

FOUGHT IN ANGLO-IRISH WAR

LIMERICK GARDA'S DEATH AT COBH

Detective Garda Thomas Kelly, Cobh Garda Station, Co. Cork, who died during the week-end, was a native of Shearin's Cross, Dromin, Bruff, and was son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Michael Kelly, Shearin's Cross (writes our Bruff correspondent). He joined the Gardai at the inception of the force in 1922 and was stationed since then in County Cork, spending most of his time at Cobh, where he was in fact amongst the first stationed there when the Garda station was established in Cobh.

He took an active part in the Irish War of Independence, and was a prominent member of Dromin "F" Company of the East Limerick I.R.A. during that period. He was one of the most active of the Old I.R.A. and took part in many engagements during the fight in the East Limerick area.

He leaves three children to mourn his passing, his wife having predeceased him.

lorry involved in t which led to the pro

Patrick Kerins, lice said that on the date he was conveying a merchandise from Rathkeale, with Patrick driving. After leaving were proceeding along Rathkeale, when defen came along and crash side of witness's lorry Guard Kiely produce the scene of the accide when he arrived he lorries damaged. Turf dust were thown on the the Army lorry. Visi occasion was good ar was straight.

Patrick Manning, dr Kerin's lorry, said lorry approached on its and struck his (witne

HE STARTED TO

Defendant, in eviden had to pass out a cycl and as the road was started to skid towards As a result he had to the front of his lorry of the other lorry. He w about seven tons of t occasion.

The Justice said he fendant was too much wrong side and while not convict him of driving in view of h good record, he would for not keeping to hi He dismissed the cha gerous driving and s fortunate that no one the occasion.

DEFICIT

9 IMPOSED

Court, before Mr. J., D.J., or Agriculture at Mr. M. M. Power, Kathleen Clery,