Warsaw Radio launch latest single with Irish tour and show in Dolan's this Friday night

LIMERICK man Brian McNamara returns to his native city with folk rock act Warsaw Radio this Friday night.

McNamara - son of former 2FM DJ Michael - started the band after moving to Brighton back in 2012. The five piece are on an Irish tour to launch latest single Down By The Sea, with a gig Upstairs in Dolan's (doors 8pm, €5).

The single is the latest from EP Give It All To Fear and was produced by Tim Bidwell. The band have had plenty of airplay on BBC and 2FM and had a busy year in 2015 with live shows and we are picking them out as ones to watch. See www.warsaw-radio.com for more.

Electric Disco run

2FM DJ Jenny Greene begins a new residency at The Library this Friday night.

Greene, who presents the biggest dance show on Irish radio, The Electric Disco, every Saturday night and also co-hosts the Nicky Byrne Show on weekdays, brings her Electric Disco to the Cornmarket Row venue this Friday.

The popular DJ has been booked to appear once a month at the venue.

Doors 9pm this Friday. Dermot Long is support.

Breaking Dad at UCH for a one-week run

SMASH hit Ross O'Carroll Kelly show Breaking Dad is coming to the UCH for a week run from March 29-April 2.

The show, written by Paul Howard, arrives after record-breaking sales of over 45,000 tickets, rave reviews and standing ovations nightly during runs in Dublin and Cork.

Howard said he was "very excited that Breaking Dad is returning" and was pleased to welcome "three new and brilliantly talented cast members".

The show, set in the year 2022, sees Ross entering his middle years without a care in the world, until his teenage daughter arrives home with the captain of the Blackrock rugby team and he is forced to face some harsh realities.

It stars Rory Nolan, Laurence Kinlan, Philip O'Sullivan, Aoibhin Garrihy and Roisin O'Neill.

See www.uch.ie for more details and to book tickets for the performance.
